

SUNDAY "MOVIES" WILL GIVE MONEY TO BUILD CHURCH

Picture Managers Are Appealed To by Laboring People, Who Find Themselves Unable to Raise Necessary Funds.

AS LONG AS SHOWS RUN
MONEY GOES TO CHURCH

Announcement Is Made on Monday That the Receipts From Last Sunday's Performances Were More Than $500.

So long as the Sunday "movies" are allowed in Atlanta, the money contributed by the patrons will go towards the erection of a church for the laboring people of this city. This announcement was made last night by a representative of the picture men, after a conference of the managers of the nine shows which opened last Sunday, had been held. The church which is to be helped and the men who are working to erect it will not be announced until after the meeting of the picture men on Thursday night, at which all details for next Sunday's performance will be arranged. Understanding that all the receipts of the shows would go to charity, the representatives of this church movement made an appeal to the managers of the Montgomery, and he carried it to the "movie" men. It was at once decided to give them the aid they asked.

Will Raise the Fund
"We will give the proceeds of the performances Sunday to this church," said their representative last night, "and we will continue to give the proceeds until we have raised enough to erect the building." It was announced that $500 was contributed at the various performances given at the nine theaters on last Sunday, the first Sunday "movies" ever opened in this city. This money will be divided between the families of the two firemen who were recently killed in Atlanta in the discharge of their duty.

The managers of Atlanta's moving picture theaters are now hopeful of winning out in their fight against the ordinance committee, by a referendum of the question to the people.

Want People to Vote.
Following the ordinance introduced by Alderman Maddox before council on Monday and referred to the ordinance committee, the moving picture managers will ask that the ordinance committee withhold action on the ordinance until the managers have had an opportunity to send out postal cards polling the voters of the city. The picture men propose to bear the entire expense of this test of public sentiment.

The picture men are willing to abide by the voice of the people, and it is possible that the ordinance committee will concede to this method of settlement.

The ordinance committee plans to give the picture men a public hearing either at a specially called meeting or at the next regular meeting of the committee, Thursday before the first Monday in April. At this time the picture men believe they can go before the committee with a strong public sentiment back of them.

Should council close their doors, the picture men will follow one of two lines of procedure. One will be to carry their case to the courts on the ground that an ordinance prohibiting exhibitions for charity contravenes the state law. The other will be to demand the closing of all Sunday businesses, enforcing the strictest "blue laws" in Atlanta.

Meanwhile, the moving picture men have planned to open their doors every Sunday, as they did last Sunday, until some definite action is taken.

WOMEN WILL BESIEGE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

Washington, March 18.—Demanding a constitutional amendment to enfranchise women the National American Woman's Suffrage association is planning to besiege the members of congress at the extra session as they never have before.

As a preliminary movement in this direction the association has prepared for a monster mass meeting in a local theater on the morning of April 7, the day on which the extra session convenes. There are to be many speakers of national and world-wide reputation and the definite program will be outlined for the onslaught upon the congress.

When the extra session begins there is to be in Washington one of the greatest gatherings of women advocates of woman suffrage the nation has ever witnessed. It was announced at suffrage headquarters today.

From every state in the union there will be at least one woman representative and there also will be at least two representatives at large from each state.

St. Louis, March 18.—Former Congressman Harry M. Goudrey was not in federal district court today when his trial on a charge of using the mails to defraud was called, but the plea of his mother prevented the forfeiture of his bond. Judge Dyer sent the case over a day.

The charge against Goudrey is in connection with the affairs of the Commercial Life Assurance company and of the International Fire Insurance company, both of which Goudrey formerly was president. Mrs. Goudrey declared that her son was on the way to St. Louis from New York.

Georgian Named Clerk of Ways and Means Committee by the Chairman.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, March 18.—(Special).—Oscar W. Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced today the appointment of Colonel Neyle Colquitt, of Savannah, Ga., as clerk of the committee, succeeding Hon. Daniel C. Roper, recently appointed first assistant postmaster general.

While the appointment is congressional, rather than presidential, it is the first Georgia has received under the new administration. In making the appointment, Mr. Underwood said: "This is the only appointment I have to make, and I am particularly glad of an opportunity to give it to Georgia, who stood so nobly by me in the national democratic convention, and I am very much gratified that Mr. Colquitt has accepted it."

The position is one of great responsibility, paying $5,000 a year. The offices of the ways and means committee are very busy now while the new tariff bills are being prepared. Mr. Colquitt will assume his duties at once. He will remain in Washington for the extra session, and his family will join him here in a short while. The new appointee is a son of William Colquitt, who was chief of revenue agents under the second Cleveland administration, and a relative of former Senators Walter S. and Alfred H. Colquitt, of Georgia, and Governor O. B. Colquitt, of Texas. He was one of the managers of Mr. Underwood's successful primary campaign in Georgia which resulted in carrying the state for the Alabama man by 15,000 majority.

BACON NOT IGNORED ABOUT THE PATRONAGE

Suggestion of Strained Relations Between Bacon and Wilson Untrue.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, March 18.—(Special).—Senator Bacon was asked tonight about a report from Georgia that he had declined to make any further recommendations to the president on the ground that he had been ignored in regard to the distribution of patronage.

This suggestion that strained relations exist between the president and the senior senator from Georgia is absolutely untrue and unfounded. The president has requested that all recommendations for office should be made to the cabinet members and there is hardly a day that Senator Bacon has not called upon some of them with a Georgian or in the interest of Georgia applicants.

It is possible that the misunderstanding about Senator Bacon not going to the president grew out of his attitude that he would not endorse any one for a cabinet portfolio, as he took the position that Mr. Wilson's official family should be selected by the president without interference or advice from any one.

Senator Bacon has called at the white house to pay his respects and has been most cordially greeted, the president referring to their ride down the avenue in the same carriage on inauguration day. In every case where a Georgian has appeared before the president, the latter has tried to help and has made almost daily calls at the state department, the department of justice, the postoffice, treasury and the interior departments urging Georgia applicants for the appointment. He believes republican officeholders should be turned out as rapidly as practicable and their places given to democrats, and has so told members of the cabinet.

King George Was Walking in Streets of Saloniki When He Was Shot in the Back by the Assassin.

KING IN HAPPY MOOD
WHEN BULLET STRUCK
AND ENDED HIS LIFE

Assassin Seems Irresponsible. Gives No Reason for Crime Except That He Hates All Governments—Crown Prince Constantine Has Been Proclaimed King of Greece.

Saloniki, March 18.—King George of Greece was assassinated while walking in the streets of Saloniki this afternoon. The assassin was a Greek of low mental type who gave his name as Aleke Schinas. He shot the king through the heart.

The king was accompanied only by an aide de camp, Lieutenant Colonel Francoudis. The assassin came suddenly at the king and fired one shot from a 7-chamber revolver. The tragedy caused intense excitement. Schinas was seized immediately and overpowered.

DEATH OF KING ANNOUNCED AND CONSTANTINE'S ACCESSION
The wounded king was lifted into a carriage and taken to the Papafio hospital. He was still breathing when placed in the carriage.

Prince Nicholas, the king's third son, and other officers, hurried to the hospital. Arriving first, Prince Nicholas summoned the officers, and, speaking to them in a voice choked with sobs, said:

"It is my deep grief to have to announce to you the death of our beloved king, and invite you to swear fidelity to your new sovereign, King Constantine."

Crown Prince Constantine, who succeeds King George, is at present at Janina. He is expected to come here with all possible speed.

ASSASSIN OF KING GEORGE AN EVIL-LOOKING FELLOW

The assassin of the king is an evil-looking fellow, about 40 years of age. On being arrested he refused to explain his motive for the crime. He declared his name was Aleke Schinas, and in reply to an officer who asked him whether he had no pity for his country, announced that he was against governments.

Schinas maintained a perfectly impassable demeanor, which was suggestive of being irresponsible for his actions.

Notwithstanding the rapidly with which the king received attention, he was dead on arrival at the hospital. Precautions at once were taken throughout the city and perfect order is being maintained.

FELL INTO ARMS OF AIDE WHEN BULLET STRUCK HIM
The king fell into the arms of his aide when shot. Two soldiers ran up on hearing the firing and helped to support him. He was placed in a carriage and efforts were made to stop the bleeding, but he breathed his last on the way to the hospital near by.

When Prince Nicholas bade the officers swear fealty to Constantine they shouted "Long live the king!" Prince Nicholas is the only member of the royal family in Saloniki. Mourning emblems are displayed everywhere. The Greek governor has issued a proclamation announcing that the oath of fealty to King Constantine has been taken.

KING WAS IN HAPPY MOOD
WHEN THE ASSASSIN FIRED

The king was shot while returning with his equerry from a walk to the white tower. He was in a happy and contented mood, and as he strolled along talked of the war, of the success of the Greek arms and of the capture of Janina and Saloniki and of this fitting climax to his fifty years' reign. "Tomorrow," said the king, "when I pay my formal visit to the dreadnought Goshen, the German battleship which is to honor the Greek king here in Saloniki, that fills me with happiness and contentment."

These proved to be the monarch's last words, for at that moment a shot rang out from behind Colonel Francoudis. The king's aide sprang round and seized the hand of the assassin, which was already poised for a second shot. Covering his royal master with his body, he seized the assassin by the throat and held him fast until passing soldiers ran to his assistance.

President Announces United States Won't Guarantee Foreign Loans Made by American Financiers.

STATEMENT IS CAUSED BY THE CHINESE LOAN

Wilson Makes It Clear That the United States Shall Not Be Used as a Debt Collector.

Washington, March 18.—President Wilson tonight in a statement approved by his cabinet after two hours of discussion announced that his administration had declined to request the group of American bankers to continue their negotiations for participation in the $125,000,000 loan desired by the Chinese government.

The statement follows: "We are informed that at the request of the last administration a certain group of American bankers undertook to participate in the loan now desired by the government of China (approximately $125,000,000)."

"Our government wished American bankers to participate along with the bankers of other nations because it desired that the good will of the United States toward China should be exhibited in this practical way that American capital should have access to that great country, and that the United States should be in a position to share with the other powers any political responsibility that might be associated with the development of the foreign relations of China in connection with her industrial and commercial enterprises."

Objects to Conditions of Loan
The present administration has been asked by this group of bankers whether it would also request them to participate in the loan. The representatives of the bankers through whom the administration was approached declared that they would continue to seek their share of the loan under the proposed agreements only if expressly requested to do so by the government. The administration has declined to make such request because it did not approve the conditions of the loan or the implications of the Chinese government's part, which it was plainly told would be involved in the request.

"The conditions of the loan seem to us to touch very heavily the administrative independence of China itself. This administration does not feel that it should be asked to guarantee a party to these conditions. The responsibility of the bankers would be implied in the request for the loan to undertake the loan might conceivably go the length in some unhappy contingency to a conclusion that the financial and even the political affairs of that great oriental state just now are in the hands of the bankers and of its obligations to its people."

The conditions include not only the pledging of particular taxes, some of them antiquated and burdensome, to secure the loan, but without which they now lack and without which they are at a serious disadvantage as compared with their industrial and commercial rivals. This is in the opinion of the Chinese people a consciousness of their possibilities under free government is the most significant if not the most momentous event of our generation. With this movement a aspiration the American people in profound sympathy. They certainly wish to participate, and participate very generously, in opening to the Chinese and to the use of the world, the almost untapped, and perhaps, unutilized resources of China."

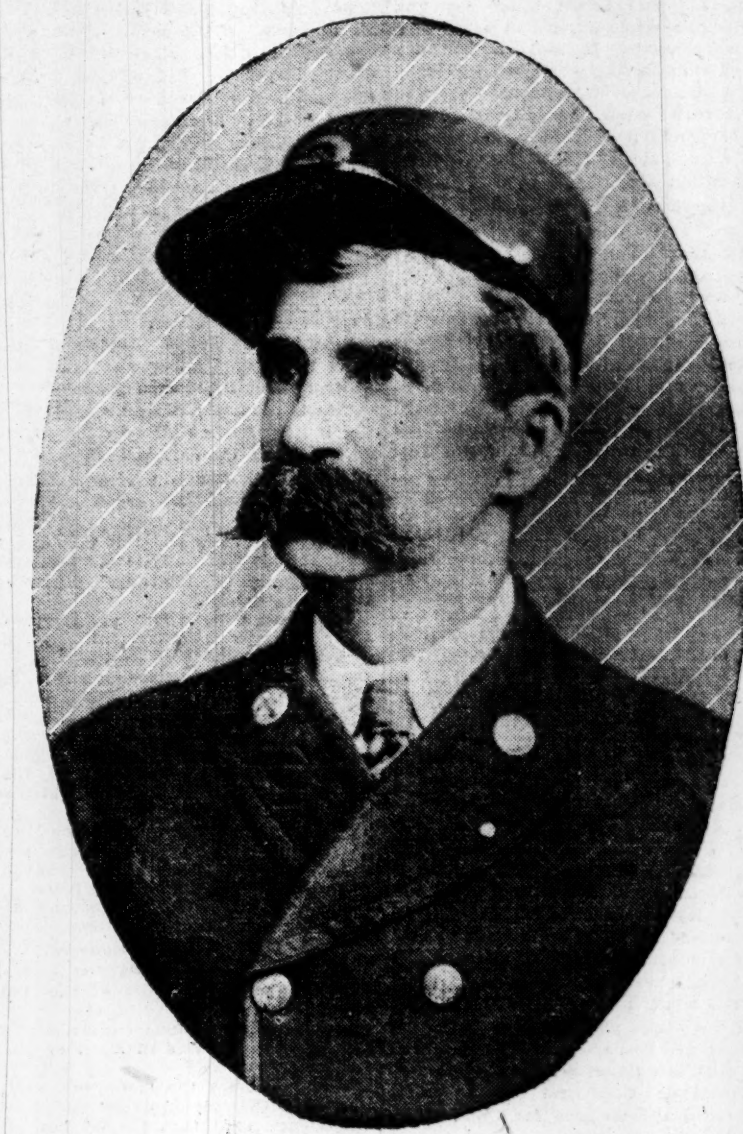

Willing to Aid China
The government of the United States is not only willing but earnestly anxious to help the Chinese people in every way that is consistent with their untrammelled development and its own immortal principles. The awakening of the people of China to a consciousness of their possibilities under free government is the most significant if not the most momentous event of our generation. With this movement a aspiration the American people in profound sympathy. They certainly wish to participate, and participate very generously, in opening to the Chinese and to the use of the world, the almost untapped, and perhaps, unutilized resources of China."

The statement came as a consequence of the visit to Washington last week of representatives of New York banking firms headed by Willard D. Straight. They had a conference with Secretary Bryan, who took the situation up with the president. Officials of the Chinese embassy also discussed the subject with Secretary Bryan and the president. Mr. Bryan was not present at today's cabinet meeting, but was Charles Whiteford Smith, a member of the committee.

Mayor James G. Woodward, instigator of the investigation, clashed with Chief Cummings when the latter charged that the mayor had not treated him fairly. The mayor hotly replied that the evidence he offered the committee was under the signature of the person who gave it.

"As far as this investigation is concerned, I want to say right here that I don't care a bean for Bill Cummings or anyone else," said the mayor, "and furthermore, that whatever I have said I am personally responsible for, and will take it up with Chief Cummings now or later."

Davidson also made the statement before the committee that he showed Mayor Courtland Winn, during the meeting of the firemen's association, a letter offering the city a rebate of 10 per cent, or $900 on the engine for the tenth ward. He said that Mayor Winn was seated at his right.

STATEMENT BY COURTLAND WINN

Ex-Mayor Winn declared from the stand that Davidson did not speak the truth. He denied ever seeing the letter. He charged that if Davidson was honest he would have made it known to the board that he would give a rebate of 10 per cent on the tenth ward engine.

Mr. Winn stated that when Chief Cummings told him that Davidson claimed he had offered a rebate, he replied that if Davidson made the statement he "is either a skunk or a scoundrel," and that he did not think he would dare testify to such a statement under oath.

Mayor Woodward unhesitatingly declared that the evidence he produced relating to the purchase of hose by Chief Cummings from the Eureka Hose company, and other deals in other cities, "shows that the company is crooked."

Chief Cummings vehemently denied the charge that he was given $400 by Davidson in a statement he made to the committee. He said that he did not believe Davidson would make such a charge without being led by others into it.

He intimated that he expected such a charge would be made when he ge-

clared to the board that he had employed ex-Mayor Winn as his attorney. SAYS JOYNER CONSPIRED TO BESMIRCH CUMMINGS' RECORD

Chief Cummings charged that Captain W. R. Joyner and others were in a conspiracy to besmirch his official integrity.

He did not attempt to offer an explanation as to what motive Davidson would have in making the charge except to say that he was led into it by others.

J. J. Rafter, local representative of the Fabric Fire Hose company, whose complaints to Mayor Woodward that Atlanta was not getting a rebate bid, did not appear before the committee, although Marshal Fuller said he served him with a summons before 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

"Go out and arrest him," someone of the committee suggested after City Attorney James L. Mayson had declared that Rafter was guilty of contempt and could be imprisoned.

After the committee adjourned the marshal was instructed to serve Rafter with papers for his appearance next Wednesday.

Davidson Repeats Statement

After Davidson had stated to the board that he offered a 10 per cent rebate on the engine for the house in the tenth ward, Mayor Woodward asked him to repeat the statements he had made to him following the acceptance of the board of the La France Engine company bid of $9000 for the engine for the DeKalb avenue was $890, and that you gave half of it to Chief Cummings."

"I asked you if it was as much as $500?" asked the mayor.

"You did," the witness replied.

"You said that it was not that much, and when I asked you again you said that your commission on the sale of the engine for DeKalb avenue was $890, and that you gave half of it to Chief Cummings?"

The witness nodded.

The mayor produced a communication signed by Davidson. It was in the nature of a letter dictated by Davidson to Mrs. Carter, the mayor's stenographer. It related to the alleged $400 transaction testified to by Davidson. One paragraph read:

"If I had to do the same thing over, I would give the city the benefit of the money."

The letter also stated that Chief Cummings' auto was frequently seen in front of the Empire Life building. Just what bearing that particular part of the letter has on the investigation was not made plain. Mayor Woodward said it will be pertinent later on.

Winn Examines Witness

Ex-Mayor Courtland Winn cross-examined the witness for Chief Cummings. He asked him on what deal he received the $800 which he said he split with Chief Cummings.

Davidson said that he gave the money to Chief Cummings during the summer of 1911, and that it was half of the $800 commission he received on the sale of the DeKalb avenue engine apparatus.

"Why did you give the money to the chief?" Mr. Winn asked.

"I had had a drink or two, and was feeling good. I don't know whether I gave him the money on the street or in his office. I think it was in the chief's office. I think it was in cash. No one was present at the time. I just handed it to him and told him to put it in his pocket. The chief did not know what it was."

"Was the chief drunk, too?" asked Mr. Winn.

Laughingly, the witness replied that he had never seen the chief drunk in his life. He said that he gave the money to the chief about five months after the DeKalb engine house deal was put through.

"Why did you wait so long?"

"I don't know. I guess I just wanted to."

Davidson said that he did not know the denomination of the bills. He said that he did not offer Chief Cummings any more money after that. He admitted that he did not have any competition on the DeKalb engine.

Knocked Off $500 on Price

Chief Cummings testified to during the hearing that Davidson made a statement to him that he knocked off $500 on the price of the DeKalb engine because he expected Chief Cummings to show the engine to prospective buyers.

Davidson was positive that he showed Mayor Winn the rebate letter during the discussion of the tenth ward engine purchase. He explained that the mayor was seated at his left, Alderman John Candler to his left, and the other members of the board were seated at a distance.

He said that he showed the letters to Mayor Winn and asked him if he saw them. He said that Mayor Winn nodded his head, apparently in assent. Here Chief Cummings broke in with the declaration that the charge of Davidson was an infamous lie.

Councilman Smith cautioned the chief that the witness was under the protection of the committee.

"Well, I'll denounce him as a liar as I have to go all over the city to do it," Chief Cummings declared.

Woodward Takes Responsibility

Alderman Raggsdale asked the witness what his object was in bringing up the $400 division at this late day.

"He is not bringing it up. I am the one who is bringing it up," corrected Mayor Woodward.

Questions were aired at Davidson from various persons, and Mayor Woodward asked that as long as the committee allowed the questioning, that John McClelland represent him.

"I guess you slipped that letter in there just like you slipped me that $400?" asked Chief Cummings.

Alderman McClelland charged that the witness was not being protected by the committee.

If the gentleman had been here five minutes ago he would have seen that the committee is protecting the witness," replied Councilman Smith.

Davidson acknowledged that he was being treated fairly by the committee.

When Settlement Occurred

Councilman Jesse M. Wood took a hand in the examination of the witness. He asked when the city settled for the DeKalb engine deal. Davidson said that it was in April or May, 1911.

"Did you draw the money especially to give to the chief?" he asked.

Davidson said that he did not. He said that he was in the habit of carrying large sums of money when he is ready to go on the road. He said he had just come from a trip, and was preparing to go out again.

Chief Cummings in his statement charged that the alleged present of $400 was part of a conspiracy. He said that former Chief Joyner has hated him for six years, and hinted that Joyner was in the plot against him.

Chief Cummings told the committee of a conversation he had with Davidson about the $500 he knocked off of the price of the DeKalb house. He said that Davidson told him that he would be glad to knock off $500 from the engine if the machine would be shown to prospective buyers.

Cummings Answers Charge.

"I am going to prosecute him. I have employed a lawyer. I knew that this thing was going to be brought up, but I did not think they would go so far."

Chief Cummings said that Davidson gave him a letter stating that no rebate was allowed the city on the DeKalb engine deal. The letter was offered. He said he could have made Davidson write any sort of letter he wanted.

"He lied about that rebate; and any man who will lie about one thing will lie about another."

Then, pointing his finger at Davidson, Chief Cummings resumed:

"You wouldn't have made such a statement if you were not led into it, old sport."

Addressing the committee, Chief Cummings said:

"I demand that Davidson prove the charge he has made against me. I demand proof. I am innocent."

Woodward Denies Chief's Statement

"Mayor Woodward has treated me unjustly," Chief Cummings continued. "I called on him in his office to discuss the fire hose."

"You never came to my office to discuss the fire hose in your life, and you know it," Bill Cummings, replied the mayor. "You spoke to me about fire engines."

Members of the committee broke in on the belligerents with the suggestion that the hearing be allowed to proceed.

"He won't let anyone proceed," put in Chief Cummings.

Mayor Woodward said that he made no reference to Chief Cummings in his message. He asked the committee to consider the charges he made therein in making their report to council. He said that he had the statements in black and white, and was causing his fighting in the open. He said that he was sorry things developed that were unpleasant, but he was willing to let the chips fall.

Mayor Is Responsible

The mayor said that he was responsible for his utterances. He called attention to the fact that the bill of lading for the tenth ward engine, bought from the La France people for $9,000, had come to him, and that no one has claimed the engine.

P. O. Hebert, agent for the Eureka Hose company, testified that the engine was in the city, and that the company was paying $1 a day demurrage on it.

The mayor said that since he called attention to the purchasing of supplies without requisitions, the various departments have begun to make purchases in the regular way.

P. O. Hebert, the hose agent, told the committee that he never gave a present of money or otherwise to any official for a testimonial. Hebert told the committee that he had seen one of the salesmen, had been dismissed from the company.

Hebert took the stand and told the committee that it was the custom of the Eureka Hose company to give presents to city officials.

"Bill Cummings as far as I know, is straight, but I cannot say that much for Mr. Hebert," he said.

Atlanta Received Rebates

Mayor Woodward, in his veto message, called attention of council to the fact that the Eureka Fire Hose company, represented by Mr. Hebert, has been receiving rebates for fire hose through Chief Cummings, and has been giving the city no rebate, whereas, every other city in the south and west received 10 per cent off.

Hebert denied the charge at a previous session, and during the present session on the stand to prove that he gave rebates on standard hose while working under Hebert.

S. P. Blanc, salesman for the Eureka, denied that he offered a bribe to a councilman at Yorkville, S. C.

Ex-Mayor Winn testified that he knew nothing of any 10 per cent rebate offered on the Webb engine bid. He said that he never saw the letter referred to by Davidson.

Councilman Jesse Wood was also present at the opening of the bids, but he did not hear of any rebate offered by Davidson.

Former Alderman Lon Johnson, who was a member of the board at the time the engine was bought, also testified that he did not know of any rebate offered on the engine.

The committee adjourned the hearing until next Wednesday.

FUND FOR SUFFERERS IN RECENT CYCLONE PASSES $3,000 MARK

Rome, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—The relief fund for the cyclone sufferers in the Curryville and Rosedale districts raised by public subscription and a monster mass meeting yesterday afternoon has been augmented by a contribution of $1,000 by the county commissioners and has passed the $3,000 mark. It having been decided not to ask Atlanta and nearby cities to contribute as had been contemplated if enough were not raised in Rome to care for the victims of the stricken district.

Wants $35,000 From Shorter

Rome, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—As the result of statements made in the trustee's court by Captain J. L. Bass, one of the foremost financiers of North Georgia, who was recently avowed of the fact that he will insist upon the payment to his estate of approximately $35,000 by the trustees of Shorter college under what he termed a "gentleman's agreement." He stated that his impression had been that under charter restrictions the college could not contract a debt and that the various sums being added to the college fund were responsible to him and would reimburse him. He also claimed an attempt was being made to minimize his municipality to the college; that he had given $20,000 for the college, and that he was willing to let the college pay for $15,000 of which they could sell for $55,000.

Some of the trustees do not deny that there are certain balances due the institution's pioneer benefactor, but assert that the amount is very small and does not approximate the sum claimed.

NOTED EVANGELIST TO BE HEARD TONIGHT

The midweek services of the Jackson Hill Baptist church will be conducted Wednesday evening at the regular hour by Rev. W. L. Walker, educational evangelist on the Southern Baptist board. Mr. Walker has been attending the Bible conference at the Baptist Tabernacle and the public subscription committee of Jackson Hill persuaded him to remain over Wednesday evening and conduct the regular prayer services. He is a forceful and enthusiastic speaker and doubtless will be greeted by a large audience.

A Severe Sickness Leaves The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the recommendation of a friend and found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for that your great remedy did for me.

DEMOCRATS SPLIT OVER TARIFF CUTS; RADICALS BEATEN

Extreme Low Tariff Men on Ways and Means Committee Out-Voted in Significant Contest.

DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS TO SETTLE THE FIGHT

Many of the Rates Are Lower Than in the Underwood Bills of Last Year—Loss of $100,000,000 in Revenue.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, March 18.—(Special).—Final action by the democratic members of the house ways and means committee today indicates that radical reductions in existing tariff schedules will not be made in the house bills.

The extreme low tariff men on the committee were out-voted in a deeply significant contest.

However, those who believe in radical reductions promise to carry the fight into the caucus and on to the floor of the house.

The wool, cotton, metal and agricultural schedules and free list were the cause of the break in the committee.

Chairman Underwood occupied the role of mediator, but his best efforts to bring about harmony among the other thirteen democratic members were futile.

The caucus will be held a few days before the new congress convenes in extra session.

In the meantime President Wilson will be acquainted with the essentials of the bills adopted by the majority of the democratic committeemen. Mr. Underwood will ask President Wilson to supplement his efforts to bring harmony from the discord in the committee. Mr. Wilson is confidently expected to try. If he fails the caucus will doubtless be stormy and the fight is likely to be carried into the house.

As accepted by the democratic majority of the ways and means committee the new schedules are in the main somewhat lower than the Underwood bills of the last congress. The difference of opinion arose when a minority of the members endeavored to apply literally the planks of the Baltimore platform which declared in favor of free listing articles controlled by monopolies or sold more cheaply at home than abroad, and in favor of reducing the cost of living by slashing protective rates on articles of common consumption.

Free raw wool, extremely low duties on the cheaper articles of woolen and cotton clothing and free steel rails were desired by the radicals. They did not get them, although the duties were reduced from those of the earlier Underwood bills in several instances.

The members of the committee are carefully guarding the actual rates of the new schedules, but it is understood that meat and food products made from cereals have been free-listed, that the duty on raw wool has been reduced to 15 per cent from the 20 per cent rate of the first Underwood wool bill and that deep cuts have been made in the rates on woolen blankets, hostelry, clothing, shoes, agricultural implements.

The committee adjourned later this afternoon and will not meet again until next Thursday. In the meantime the experts in the committee's employ will figure out how much revenue may be expected annually from the tariff as it has been written by the majority of the democrats.

$100,000,000 Loss in Revenue.
If the loss in revenue is in the neighborhood of $100,000,000 the committee will immediately begin the preparation of an income tax bill which will be devised so as to make up this loss. If the annual loss of revenue is much more, as is feared, it may be necessary to reopen some of the schedules and increase the rates slightly.

An idea of how radical the democratic tariff revision is likely to be can be obtained by a study of the Underwood bills of the last congress, which worked reductions from the present law of approximately 45 per cent on the average and the new bills are no higher than these measures and in many instances are lower.

Members of the committee who are charged because the rates are not as low as they desired in the new bills are referring to the conservative reductions as "protectionists." This is extremely amusing to those republicans who think that protection would be lost if the rates of the Payne law should be reduced. It is an illustration of how the times have changed and of the democratic viewpoint with respect to tariff revision.

A curious phase of the situation is that the radical revisionists of the house are looking to the senate to bring about the result they desire.

For a Single Tariff Bill.
Sentiment in favor of a single tariff bill instead of a schedule by schedule revision developed today among democratic leaders. If this idea is adopted by the coming democratic caucus of the house the pending tariff revision bids fair to go down into history as the Underwood tariff of 1913.

Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, as chairman of the senate committee on finance, conferred today with Representative Underwood. As a result a senate subcommittee, headed by Senator Simmons, and a house subcommittee, headed by Representative Underwood, will have a general conference on the tariff tomorrow to bring about a plan for ensuring harmonious action between the two houses so as to facilitate tariff revision legislation and end the extra session much sooner than has been contemplated.

The ways and means committee democrats will meet again Thursday when a subcommittee will report on the administrative details of the tariff will be re-enacted.

Harmony is Sought.
Senate leaders stated tonight there is general harmony among the democrats of that body upon the tariff program. In order to carry out the policy of co-operation with the house, it is understood that the senate probably will have to accept much greater reductions in tariff rates than that body approved at the last session.

Senator Simmons, the new chairman of the finance committee, expressed a willingness to fall in with the house plans of revision.

The senate finance committee practically decided to have no senate tariff hearings because of the extensive hearings conducted by the house committee and the debate that occurred during the last congress. Republican senators have notified the democrats that they will insist on debating the tariff bills fully in the senate and that an early adjournment need not be expected. The extent of the republican opposition to the tariff revision bills has not been developed.

GOSSIP AT CAPITOL

Governor's Guard Stolen.

A mysterious robbery occurred at the state capitol, a robbery which has gripped the governor of Georgia, and which may influence the last days of his term of office.

The person or persons who committed the robbery may not be aware of it, but they have taken the "masses" of the governor of the Empire State of the South.

Some time between the hours of 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, the long-handled Georgia gourd, which was presented to "Little Joe" when he began his second term two years ago, was taken from the reception room adjoining the governor's private office. It rested in state on a red plush divan, where it has been seen and admired by hundreds of visitors. It was handsomely engraved with the following significant words:

"May your second administration be as good as your first, for then Georgia is sure to have a most excellent governor."

Even this grand sentiment did not stay the ruthless hand of the pilfering desecrator.

Colonel Perry, the governor's private secretary, will probably offer a reward for the capture of the bold and reckless purloiner. He is thinking of placing the case in the hands of the Pinkertons or of calling in William J. Burns.

Drainage Conference.
There will be an important meeting of the Georgia Drainage Congress at Savannah on April 3 and 4 for the purpose of discussing the problem of draining the low and swampy lands in the state. There is much land in Georgia which, if reclaimed by proper drainage, would add greatly to the profitable farming acreage.

The congress will take up the question of needed laws, cost and appropriations which might be expected both from Georgia and the national government.

There is a drainage association in Georgia which was organized two years ago, and which has already accomplished much good. The first land which will probably be drained is located in Gwinnett county.

Among the prominent men who will be present at the congress are: Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina; Governor-elect John M. Slaton; E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina; Dr. L. G. Hardeman, of Commerce, Ga.; Charles G. Elliott, chief of the drainage investigating department at Washington, D. C.; S. W. McCallie, state geologist of Georgia, who will give an illustrated lecture on drainage in the state; State Senator L. R. Aiken, of Brunswick, president of the State Drainage association; S. H. McCrory, engineer in charge of the drainage investigating department at Washington, D. C.; W. C. Phillips, who will make a talk on what the national government is doing for drainage in the state.

Pensions Are Paid.
Veterans' pensions to the amount of $301,325 were paid yesterday. In the next ten days, $167,000 more will be paid out, and this will finish the payment of pensions for this year. Some weeks ago $530,000 was paid in pensions to those who were not paid first last year. Governor Brown paid off first last year the veterans who were paid last in 1912.

Conner Issues Warning.
Major J. J. Conner, the state commissioner of agriculture, has issued a statement to the farmers of Georgia, in which he cautions them against the use of inferior fertilizers. Major Conner says:

"I would advise the farmers of Georgia not to use a low grade of commercial fertilizers on their crops. Better results will be obtained by the use of

ATLANTA WILL SOON BECOME HEADQUARTERS FOR WEATHER

For a quarter of a century Atlanta has been known the country over as headquarters for everything from insurance to barbecue and possum. It seemed finally that there was nothing else left on the face of the earth that did not have headquarters in Atlanta. But, passing strange, here's another.

Within a few days the weather headquarters of the universe will be located in Atlanta. No, not the weather bureau from Washington, but a higher authority than that. This authority is none other than just a ground hog. But this is not "a" ground hog, but "the" ground hog.

Recently Captured.
S. E. Bobo, formerly of Georgia, but now of Black Mountain, N. C., captured the ancient weather prophet upon the summit of Mount Mitchell, the highest point east of the Rockies, and has presented him to the zoo at Grant park.

This particular animal has not a national, but an international reputation. Weather sharks of the European continent are acquainted with him and the star-gazers of the Orient bow to the profundity of his wonderful prognostications. Crown heads have awaited anxiously his forecast upon the elements at the time of court events.

For a century his majesty, the Ground Hog of Mount Mitchell, has been regarded with awe and something akin to reverence by the natives in that mountain fastness.

high-grade goods. Individually, on my own farm, I do not use a fertilizer lower than 10-20-20. That is, a goods which analyzes 10 available phosphoric acid, 3 available ammonia, and 3 available potash. That class of goods are cheaper and give much better results than a low grade of commercial fertilizers. Therefore, I would like to appeal to the farmers not to use low grade, but high-class goods. Were this done by all our farmers, it would eliminate the troubles about "fertilizer" in fertilizers, as well as increase the farmers' profits from the farm."

Trinity and Capitol Dome.
Captain "Tip" Harrison has figured out that if the steeple on the old Trinity church, which was the highest in the city, had been placed within the capitol dome it would have lacked 47 feet of reaching the ceiling. The steeple of old Trinity was 125 feet high, and the inside of the capitol dome is 172 feet.

The dome has recently been beautifully frescoed and a large cluster of electric lights will be swung from the center.

Must Pay Occupation Tax.
Those engaged in the real estate business in Georgia will be required to pay the $10 occupation tax in every county in which they do business, according to a decision rendered by the court of appeals yesterday morning.

The decision was reached in the case of Mathis v. Harrell, and came up from the city court of Cairo, Mathis was engaged in the real estate business in Quitman, Brooks county, and made a sale in Grady county, Harrell being the purchaser. Harrell refused to pay Mathis his commission on the ground that the latter had failed to pay an occupation tax in Grady county. Harrell won his case in both the lower court and in the appellate court.

Marshall Seeing Sights.

Washington, March 18.—Vice-President Marshall started out today sight-seeing through the capital. Among other places he visited was the supreme court, where he sat down in the first chair he could find, ignoring the reserved seats. He was delayed in retiring from the room by a bevy of seminary girls, who recognized him.

MISS LAING FAVORS "MOVIES" ON SUNDAY

"Properly Censored Pictures Will Be Aid," Says Juvenile Court Worker.

Miss Margaret Laing, assistant probation officer of the juvenile court, in a statement to The Constitution yesterday, expressed herself in favor of Sunday moving pictures. Miss Laing, in view of her relations to the juvenile court, is in a position to observe the effect of the moving picture show upon the minds and morals of children, and is of the opinion that moving pictures properly censored would be a source of great help in directing youngsters along the paths of rectitude. On the other hand, depictions of crime, she believes, are very harmful. Miss Laing says:

"I would like to suggest that all the energy used in opposing the Sunday moving picture show be directed toward getting a strong board of censorship for all pictures produced at any time in Atlanta. Many of the pictures now shown are suggestive of evil. A gang of small boys, thieves, recently told the officers of the juvenile court that they got the idea of their daring burglaries from the moving picture shows. The board surely could put an end to the suggestive vaudeville stunt given in connection with the pictures. Some of the motion songs are very suggestive of evil and must have a bad influence over the actors themselves as well as the audiences, which are composed of many young boys and girls. I certainly approve of good moral, religious and educational shows Sunday afternoons. They would be better operated free of charge by the city, but if the city is not going to do this, by all means allow the picture men to do it and see to it that they give our people good, clean shows all the time. I do not believe we can measure the evil of suggestion that is bid, nor can we ever estimate the value of the moral, educational and religious show. Let us beg for clean, wholesome amusement for Atlanta, whether by commercial agencies or the municipality."

FARMERS OF RANDOLPH PLANTING MORE GRAIN

Cuthbert, Ga., March 18.—(Special.) A much larger crop of grain, mainly oats, will be gathered than has been heretofore. All over this section of the state a vigorous campaign to persuade the farmers to plant more oats has been waged. And farmers are ripply resolved and have given greater acreage to them than has ever been used before.

A fear was felt at the first cold spell after Christmas that the cold would be long and continuous and that harm would result because of the oats being up and not insured to the cold. But all through the past winter season the weather has been very mild. The farmers on account of the short crop last year have not gone to much expense toward new equipment and they used what they had. Not any more fertilizer has been used than was used last year, but the clearing up of new ground and the changing of crops on the soil has done a great deal toward making any more fertilization unnecessary.

HENDRICK SHOWING AUTOMATIC COUPLER

Demonstrating an automatic coupler which mechanically attaches the steam and air-brake lines without the touch of a hand, J. L. Hendrick, a well-known railroad man, has established himself in Atlanta.

The new coupler was recently patented by V. S. Durbin, a former railroad man. It is being received enthusiastically by railroads and railroad men. It is so constructed that all danger of the loss of life or limb in fastening a string of cars is eliminated entirely.

This feature, however, is not the device's most meritorious one. The telephone and signal system is the phase of the invention that is attracting widespread attention. By this means communication is established throughout the entire train. The device has been installed on a number of prominent roads, including the Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, and the Queen and Crescent route. A number of southern lines are equipping their cars. Mr. Hendrick is staying at the Southern hotel.

WARMER TODAY, SAYS ATLANTA FORECASTER

With a maximum temperature of 47 degrees on Tuesday, the indications are for warmer and fair weather today.

Conditions are generally settled in this section, and no sudden change is apparent. The temperature at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning was 44 degrees, which was just 13 points higher than that of the previous day, and while hardly as much of a rise is looked for today, there will be more of the balmy touch of summer to the air than in several days past.

"ATLANTA MADE GOODS" EXPOSITION IS PLANNED

The exposition for "Atlanta Made Goods" this year is already under consideration by the manufacturers, and the show this year will be on a much larger scale than last year, state those who are behind the movement.

A plan is on foot to secure a building for a permanent display of Atlanta made goods. The plan really got under way last year and a building to cost $50,000 has been talked of for some time.

JACOBS WILL GIVE COSTLY PERFUMES TO ALL PURCHASERS

The perfume department of Jacobs' main store has been transformed into a fairyworld of flowers and incense, with wondrous colors and sweetnesses.

Even more fascinating to the feminine heart are the thousands of fine perfumes and exquisitely dainty toilet things which are being distributed free to all customers. There are thousands and thousands of gifts being given away. Among them are V. Rigaud's favorite Grand Opera perfumes from Paris, Trentini, Mary Garden and Marthe Chenal; also Djer Kise extract, Lechoreur Papier Poudre booklets, 4,711 White Rose glycerine soap and perfumed bath salts, Pinaud's Hlas vegetal and Eau de quinine, Colgate's petite comfort and outfit sets, and many other things that a woman appreciates and genuinely enjoys using, or a man too, for that matter.

During this special Easter week sale, Jacobs will give to every customer in the perfume and toilet goods departments a package containing several of these delightful gifts, even though her purchase may amount to less than a quart, and better yet, she may have what she prefers.

But even with thousands of gifts, some will be more favored and sought for than others. In other words, it will be the part of wisdom to call early.

SALE IS GROWING FOR GRAND OPERA

Extraordinary Demand Is Experienced for Tickets From Out-of-Town Patrons.

One of the most remarkable features of the sale of season tickets for the 1913 grand opera season is the demand for tickets from out-of-town patrons. Harvey Johnson's mail is filled every day with letters from those who intend to be here opera week, most of them enclosing checks for season tickets and asking that selection of the best available seats be made for them.

Of course only season tickets are being sold now, and this out-of-town demand will be still further increased by the sale of tickets for single performances for those who cannot remain during the entire week.

The demand on the part of local purchasers continues strong, and the box offices at the Phillips & Crew company's, on Pryor street, and the Cable Piano company's, on Broad street, are kept busy all day long. There is now every indication that the 1913 sale is going to eclipse any Atlanta has ever known.

No Damages for Desobey.
Macon, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—A jury in the city court today declined to give C. W. Disoby damages in a suit against Henry J. Lamar for alleged malicious prosecution. Mr. Disoby had asked for $25,000, claiming that he had been maliciously prosecuted on the charge of larceny after trust.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES WILL OPEN TONIGHT

The Holy week services will open on Wednesday night at 8 o'clock with the impressive "Tenebrae," or chanting of the divine office, matins and lauds, by the clergy of the Sacred Heart church and of Marist college. The "Tenebrae" will be chanted again on Thursday and Friday night at the same hour.

On Thursday morning there will be a military mass in which the cadets of Marist college will take part, under the direction of Major Schmidt. After mass a procession will be formed, headed by the Marist college band and cadets, to convey the blessed sacrament from the church to the altar of repose in the sodality chapel. The little girls from the parochial school will strew flowers on the way of the blessed sacrament. Adoration of the blessed sacrament will continue all day in the sodality chapel. In the upper church the morning ceremony will end by the stripping of the altars.

On Thursday night, after the chanting of the Tenebrae in the main church, a sermon will be preached on the institution of the holy eucharist at the altar of repose in the Sunday school chapel.

The Good Friday morning services will consist of the ceremony of the prostration, then the veneration of the cross and the sad and impressive mass of the presanctified. The program for the rest of the day follows: At 3 o'clock, the hour of our Blessed Lord's death, stations of the cross and sermon on the passion. Tenebrae at 8 p. m. The morning services of Holy Saturday will begin by the blessing of the new fire, of the paschal candle and of the holy water. At 8 o'clock solemn

APPARATUS LIGHTS FIRES IN ORCHARDS WHEN FROST COMES

Athena, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—Last night a successful practical test was made in the peach orchard on the state college farm with an apparatus installed by Professor T. H. McHatten, by which an automatic thermometer in the field rang an electric bell in Professor McHatten's residence when the temperature fell to 30 degrees. Automatically receptacles of crude oil placed at intervals in the orchard were ignited, and in a few minutes the temperature was raised to 35, and maintained there.

There was no frost in the blossoming orchard, though frost was plentiful elsewhere.

Foods That Bind Little Children

Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Diet

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, plagues, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Darling, R. F. D. No. 4, Bellevue, Pa., who writes: "I certainly think Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin saved my baby's life. Marjorie is a bottle baby and could not get her food to digest, but I found by giving her a small dose of Syrup Pepsin when

ED RENFROE PLANNING SUIT AGAINST SOUTHERN

That Ed Renfro, recently acquitted in Clarksburg, Ga., for the murder of Engineer Jacob Costner by throwing a switch and wrecking the train, and now under indictment for the murder of the negro fireman in the same way, will probably bring suit for heavy damages against the Southern Railway company, charging "malicious prosecution," is the intimation given out by his attorneys.

Renfro claims that the case of murder was worked up against him by railroad detectives in order to free the road from responsibility of damages resulting from the wreck, which, he claims, was the fault of a defective rail. Damage suits aggregating $150,000 have already been filed against this road by various passengers and by the widow of the dead engineer.

The danger of this custom was apparent to members of his entourage, who repeatedly, but without avail, requested his majesty to permit the presence of civil guards.

A few days ago four gendarmes were ordered to follow the king, but their presence was considered so objectionable by his majesty that the number was reduced to two. These followed at long distance.

The effect of the assassination in Saloniki was most impressive. Groups of grief-stricken people gathered in the streets and conversed in muffled tones. The troops were recalled to barracks, shops and cafes were closed, the street cars suspended, service lights were extinguished and Saloniki tonight had a dead and deserted appearance. Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-gripping and free from injurious ingredients.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way—a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

DEGENERATE GREEK KILLED KING GEORGE

judgment. King George had already sank to the earth. He was lifted into a carriage, and with his head resting on his arm, continued to breathe for a short time. But before the hospital was reached life was extinct.

The bullet, which was fired at a distance of two paces, entered the back below the shoulder blade. Its point of exit was below the stomach. There was a severe hemorrhage. The jeweled cross which the king always wore was smothered with blood.

The assassin is a Greek of feeble intellect. He says he was driven to desperation by sickness and want. The crime, therefore, appears to be without a motive.

Since his triumphal entry into Saloniki the king had been accustomed to take an afternoon walk to the famous white tower or to the cavalry barracks in Lesser Karaburum.

King Went About Unarmed. The king's confidence in the people was so great that he went about freely, accompanied only by a single eunuch.

The danger of this custom was apparent to members of his entourage, who repeatedly, but without avail, requested his majesty to permit the presence of civil guards.

A few days ago four gendarmes were ordered to follow the king, but their presence was considered so objectionable by his majesty that the number was reduced to two. These followed at long distance.

QUEEN OLGA IS TOLD OF THE KING'S DEATH

Athena, March 18.—Queen Olga, who arrived at Athens this evening, will embark at midnight on a Russian cruiser for Saloniki.

The queen was informed of the assassination of the king on board the steamer on which she was returning from a visit to Preveza.

Immense crowds thronged the streets tonight. All the theaters were closed and flags were at half-mast.

The foreign minister has sent the following message to the Greek diplomats abroad:

"With broken heart I have to inform you that our king was assassinated by a shot from a revolver at 5 o'clock this afternoon at Saloniki while taking a walk. He died half an hour later."

"The whole of Greece and Macedonia are stupefied by this terrible attack on our victorious king, who was so deeply loved."

SKETCH OF SLAIN KING; DID MUCH FOR GREECE

King George was in his sixth year, and had ruled fifty years. He was a brother of Queen Mother Alexandra of England and a son of the late king of Denmark. He was chosen king of the Hellenes in 1863, in succession to Otto I.

A previous attempt to assassinate him was made in 1898. It was frustrated. King George was married in October, 1867, to Princess Olga, eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine of Russia, a brother of the late Emperor Alexander II.

Crown Prince Constantine, who has been in active command of the Greek troops throughout the Balkan hostilities and who was Saloniki a free port. Since the occupation of Saloniki by the Greeks there has been some friction between them and their Bulgarian allies, but it was thought that this eventually would be overcome during negotiations for the partition of Turkish territory.

His name was mentioned after hostilities broken out as a candidate for the presidency of a permanent federation of the Balkan states, consisting of Bulgaria, Serbia, Montenegro and Greece.

When King George arrived in Saloniki on November 12 with Prince Constantine and Prince George he was warmly greeted by the Greek population and the senior officers of his army. All the houses were decorated with the Greek flag and thousands of people assembled to cheer him. He later took part in a service of thanksgiving in the Archepiscopal church.

In an interview King George at that time said that Greece, after the war, probably would have a frontier north of Saloniki and Monastir and he was inclined to make Saloniki a free port.

TRAGEDY WON'T STOP WAR IN THE BALKANS

New York, March 18.—The death of King George of Greece will make no change in the Balkan situation, in the opinion of George H. Moses, former American minister to Greece, who resigned his post last summer and now has business offices in this city. Mr. Moses said that Constantine, King George's son and successor, was entirely in accord with the policies of his father, and is a man of strong personality.

"The thought which arises most emphatically on the news of King George's assassination," he said, "is the tragedy of such an end to his long and useful career at a time when he was within a few months of celebrating the jubilee of his fiftieth year on the throne of Greece."

"To this day of success King George had contributed much. With great tact he had led his people through days of difficulty, and was no small factor in the work of reorganization which had brought the Greek government, the army and his navy to a point where they could wage victorious war against their traditional foe. In the negotiations leading to the Balkan federation, King George was a constant and helpful contributor, and but for his tragic fate which has now come to him, he doubtless, as the senior among Balkan monarchs and no less by his personal merit, would have become the head of a permanent Balkan alliance.

"His death will make no change in the plans of the allies. Constantine, who now takes the Hellenic crown, is entirely in accord with the policies of his father. He is a man of strong personality, a highly trained soldier, in whom the military and the diplomatic character are well blended."

BULGARIA REGRETS MURDER OF THE KING

Sofia, March 18.—The Bulgarian cabinet, M. Cusheff has sent the following telegram to the Greek premier, Eleutherus Venizelos:

"I, at this moment, have received the terrible news of the assassination of your beloved king, the illustrious ally of our sovereign and of our people. I hasten to tell you how greatly we share in your immense grief."

"Lamenting the loss of one of the first artisans of our holy alliance, shocked by the barbaric act of an infamous assassin, my colleagues and I beg you to accept the deepest condolence of the Bulgarian government and nation."

NEW KING OF GREECE LIKED BY HIS PEOPLE

London, March 18.—Crown Prince Constantine comes to the throne of Greece at the very height of his popularity, which he won on the field of battle in Macedonia and which the capture of Janina raised to the highest pitch.

It was not always thus. He suffered with other members of the royal family, who were Saloniki a free port. Since the occupation of Saloniki by the Greeks there has been some friction between them and their Bulgarian allies, but it was thought that this eventually would be overcome during negotiations for the partition of Turkish territory.

Democratic in His Manners—Fond of a Good Dinner and Game of Cards.

London, March 18.—The official world at London and the general public were startled this evening by a terse message from Saloniki announcing the assassination of the king of Greece.

Interest in the troubled Balkans has been running late, but the news of this unwelcome unexpected tragedy caused an instant and immense sensation. It was generally known that the king of Greece was still at Saloniki, as nothing had been heard of his movements for several days.

Concern regarding details of the assassination was intense, but as the hours passed and no further news reached London, it became evident that a rigid censorship was being maintained by the army administration.

The strained relations between the Greek and Bulgarian contingents at Saloniki gave grounds for fears that the assassination of King George might have been incident to a clash between the allies, but a message received at midnight dispelled such apprehension by identifying the assassin as a Greek degenerate.

Sympathy for Queen Alexandra. The greatest sympathy is felt for Queen Alexandra. King George of Greece was her favorite brother. She only recently suffered another although less tragic blow, in the death of her brother, King Frederick of Denmark.

Even if the king of Greece's close relationship with the British royal family did not exist, the circumstances of his death would debar the court for a time from social functions.

It is expected that court mourning will be announced for three months and that all official engagements except the most necessary ones will be canceled.

The London social season, which begins after Easter, therefore, will suffer an eclipse and several branches of retail business will lose heavily thereby.

Well Known in London. King George of Greece was a frequent visitor to London, his last visit being on the occasion of King Edward's funeral, when he met Colonel Theodoros Rousoff and became exceedingly friendly with the ex-president, whom he impressed as one of the most democratic characters among the European sovereigns assembled here.

King George had a particular fondness for a good dinner and a game of cards, and was known to all the foremost restaurants in the continental capitals and watering places. He was popularly credited with being rather easy-going in the matter of hard work. At a meeting of moslems and Turkish sympathizers here tonight the announcement of the assassination was greeted with cries of "Shame!" although there were some cheers. The audience rose as a token of respect for the king's memory.

The Earl of Selbourne, presiding at a meeting of the Royal Colonial Institute, announced the death of the king and said that all would wish to express their deepest sympathy of the queen mother, Alexandra, in her bitter loss.

Personal courage was the king's marked characteristic. On one occasion when an attempt was made to assassinate him, while he was driving with Princess Marie, he rose to his full height in the carriage and, shielding his daughter with his body, furiously shook his cane at the two men who were firing at him at close range.

The king's popularity, which had been owing to the disastrous results of the Greco-Turkish war, rose again at a bound to heights not before attained earlier in his reign.

Attacked Once Before. King George had another narrow escape from death—this time at the hands of one of his own sentries. As was his lifetime habit he was walking one night along one of the quays at Piraeus when a sentry challenged him. Being unwilling to reveal his identity, the king turned abruptly and walked away. Without more ado the sentry fired. The bullet grazed the king's shoulder.

The next day the sentryman was summoned to the palace, complimented on his attention to duty and presented with the order of the redemption.

Throughout the last few years Greece has passed through a period of unrest and national danger, particularly over the Cretan question which caused the war of 1897 and frequently threatened to involve the country in a struggle with Turkey. Since then the king, however, had used a moderating influence and in 1910 by summoning an unconstitutional national assembly finally rid himself of the hampering influence of the military league.

Boy Gives His Life TO SAVE COMRADES. Chicago, March 18.—Fred Pispah, 15, died of rabies in a hospital today, the victim of a practical joke—a joke which might have cost the lives of 20 other pupils in the school room with him had he not risked his life. He is now called the hero of Strasburg, Ill.

Two of Pispah's boy schoolmates brought a stray white poodle dog into the school room as a joke. Pispah noticed that the dog was foaming at the mouth and he pushed back a little girl as she was about to pat the animal. While he was carrying the dog from the room it bit him. The next day the dog bit four pigs and a horse, all of which later died of rabies.

The boy's parents became alarmed and after treating him with home remedies for several weeks brought him to a specialist in Chicago. The case was

Do you know that $25 is the price of a good suit of clothes? You can buy our clothes for less—eighteen or twenty; or for more—up to forty-five. But $25 is a good average price; you'll get the maximum of value for your money.

If you have your clothes made to measure, at $40 or $50, better look at our suits at $25; the very high priced tailor may do better for you; but under $40, buy ours. If you pay $25 or less for what you think are "custom tailored" clothes, you'll get better clothes ready in any store that sells our goods.

Fine ready clothes such as we make are taking the place of made-to-measure with most up-to-date men; they give the style, the quality, the tailoring, the fit that such men want, at the minimum of cost.

Ask for our clothes, don't take any others. Our mark is a small thing to look for but a big thing to find.

You Should Enjoy Your Meals

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

If your stomach cannot digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? The answer is in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 2,000 grains of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach?

You Can Eat With the Appetite of a Lusty Youngster, If You Help Your Stomach.

Science nowadays can digest food without having it enter the stomach at all. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well, anything and everything you eat.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to?" If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eruptions, blot, rash, fermentation, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat all you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

HOUSE

It is a story whose sympathies are as wide as the world. The destinies of nations are interwoven with the lives of the two heroes—one a millionaire, a pioneer of the Cecil Rhodes type; the other a diplomat, with his finger on the pulse of the world. And the woman, like Cleopatra, influences the careers of empire-builders by her beauty and her cleverness.

All those qualities of devouring interest which charmed a million men and women in "The Right of Way" and "The Weavers" are even more fully disclosed in this new work of the Master's hand.

AN ILLUSTRATION.

The equity and operation of the inheritance tax are alike illustrated in the just-reported appraisal by the state of New York of the estate of E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, for the purpose of levying this particular tax. The estate is estimated at $68,004,348.60. Of this sum, the state of New York receives as an inheritance tax 1 per cent, or $680,043.48. In themselves constituting a fortune, the figures appear formidable. But when it is considered that they represent only 1 per cent of the estate the relative smallness of the tax is at once seen.

No one has been or will be hurt by this impost. The $680,043.48 is taken from a sum that the inheritors never earned and could not possess save by the will of the creator of this wealth; the latter, during his life time, had never felt the pinch of the tax and his plans and operations had not been embarrassed by it; and it will not be denied that 1 per cent of this prodigious fortune is a small enough sum to return to society-at-large without the collective energies of which it would have been impossible to amass this wealth. This latter phase, that of the "unearned increment," is as a matter of simple justice bound to play an increasingly larger role in our system of taxation. The broader reasoning of our day is seeing the righteousness of permitting society to participate, in part at least, in the benefits of the fortunes it directly and indirectly builds up but which are, unless an inheritance or "unearned increment" tax intervenes, now passed on intact to inheritors.

Georgia does not, of course, enjoy any such overwhelming fortune as those typified in the Harriman estate; but the principle should apply to all inheritances in excess of a reasonable minimum. The more progressive states in other parts of the country do not hesitate to invoke this legitimate source of revenue. Why not Georgia, and at the next session of the legislature, too?

UNSHACKLING AGRICULTURE.

The appointment by President Wilson of a strong commission to investigate and report to congress upon the subject of rural credits launches a movement that directly or indirectly appeals to the pocketbook of every individual in this country.

The commission was authorized by the last agricultural appropriation bill, and will serve without compensation, other than its actual expenses. The personnel is exceptionally capable. Georgia is represented by Harvie Jordan, who has spent some time in Europe making a study of the systems employed there and who, through The Constitution, has done much to awaken public sentiment in this section to the need and justice of so amending our currency laws as to remove the present banking restrictions against the farmer. Other members of the commission are Senator Fletcher, of Florida, president of the Southern Commercial congress;
Senator Gore, of Oklahoma; Representative Moss, of Indiana; Dr. John Lee Coulter, of Minnesota, a recognized authority on the modern science of agriculture; Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, of Massachusetts, who was a member of Roosevelt's country life commission, and Clarence J. Owen, of Maryland. The government commission is to co-operate with a similar commission recently designated by the Southern Commercial congress.

This commission is directed specifically to investigate and study in European countries co-operative land mortgage banks, co-operative rural credit unions and similar organizations and institutions devoting their attention to the promotion of agriculture and the betterment of rural conditions.

Its scope is not only to include the matter of rural credits, but also the highly important question of co-operative marketing under which it is said the farmers of Europe are protected against trust movements that would reduce the price of their products.

In the words of the general instructions issued to the commission "special note" is to be taken of:

First. The parts played, respectively, in the promotion of agriculture by the governments and by voluntary organizations of the agricultural classes.

Second. The application of the co-operative system to agricultural production, distribution, and finance.

Third. The effect of co-operative organization upon social conditions in rural communities.

Fourth. The relation of the cost of living to the business organization of the food-producing classes.

Conditions under which loans are now negotiated in this country actually penalize the farmer as against the followers of any other vocation. In the first place, land is barred as collateral for loans from national banks, a restriction that was perhaps justified when these laws were framed, but which has long since then been rendered wholly unnecessary by the stabilization of land values. The embargo has, however, had the effect of injuriously placing the farmer in a separate class where he must pay all sorts of discriminatory and exorbitant interest rates on loans.
The ordinary business man, or the holder of city real estate, has little trouble in negotiating loans at 5 and 6 per cent. The farmer must, in patronizing private agencies, pay 8 per cent and upwards as commissions pile up.

In Europe, and especially in Germany, the authorities long ago recognized that rural land is really the basis of all wealth.
Under the co-operative loan societies or the Raiffeisen system, as the case may be, farmers may pool their holdings and secure unlimited credit at from 3 to 4 and 4½ per cent. What that means as a stimulus to agriculture and a healthy agricultural condition need not be emphasized.

The government and the commercial commissions which now become active will supply congress with data upon which it is hoped to construct a rural credit system for America. The benefits of such an innovation are almost incalculable. Opening to agriculture a tremendous and safe source of credit at nominal rates, expansion and improvement of the farming interests of this country will proceed at a rate difficult of estimate. The process will really be the equivalent of unshackling agriculture, an end that should appeal to every American since in the last analysis the welfare of the farm determines the welfare of the nation. Tapping a new reservoir of credit for the farmer means more and better farms; increasing personal ownership and dwindling of the evil of tenancy; checking the flow of population to the cities; lowering the cost of living; cheapening the cost and increasing the profit of production.

DR. TULEY'S LECTURE.

Pure milk and its life and death importance will be the theme of a lecture to be delivered tomorrow evening at Cable hall by Dr. Henry Enos Tuley, of Louisville, former president of the American Association of Medical Milk commissions.
Dr. Tuley comes to Atlanta at the request and under the auspices of the Fulton County Medical society, whose campaign for germ-free and properly modified milk means much for the health of the community.

Dr. Tuley will lecture here at a time when the community is roused as never before to the importance of the subject on which he is a national authority. The chamber of commerce, the Atlanta Anti-Tuberculosis association and the organized physicians of the city are working in harmony to secure not only certified milk for the city, but at every source a milk supply as free from dangerous contamination as humanly possible. The approach of the heated season renders the lecture even more appropriate. It is during the summer that polluted milk takes its greatest toll of infant and adult life. Education of public sentiment to demand safety, and illustration of the means of insuring safety, is of the highest importance.

There is no charge for admission to Dr. Tuley's lecture which, illustrated with slides and delivered by a man of notable ability, will be both entertaining and vitally instructive.

A RECORD-BREAKING SEASON.

The sale of season tickets for grand opera week has progressed sufficiently to indicate that the festival of next month will set new records in the phenomenal record of grand opera in Atlanta. The first few days of the sale far over-topped the showing of similar periods for any previous season. The ratio since maintained has borne out the promise of supremacy.

A significant fact reported by the association authorities is that purchasers are coming from a wider range of territory than at any preceding season. The publicity of the past three years is now demonstrating its cumulative effect. The south-at-large has come to recognize that grand opera in repertoire in Atlanta is past the experimental stage and is grown into a regular institution. Hosts of music lovers, therefore, who formerly went to New York or Chicago for the annual seasons, are now coming to Atlanta, seeing the same operas and hearing the same singers at an incomparably smaller outlay of time and money.

Atlantians who wish to secure choice reservations of season tickets are confronted with the odd condition that while several days yet elapse before the end of the sale, the unprecedented demand makes it necessary for them to lose no time. Incidentally, the rush of sales and its section-wide origin presages, from the social side, a week of brilliance rarely surpassed in local annals.

I wonder if Marcelle is there?

II.
I wish for her the heavens as bright

Upon the sweetest face of all!

No one may know, and none may tell

New News of Yesterday

How Men Without Previous Training Became Great Financiers.

By E. J. Edwards.

This daily series of anecdotes and incidents that throw new, interesting and frequently dramatic light on famous events and personalities of the past has been collected by Mr.
Edwards during nearly forty years of more or less intimate acquaintance with many of the country's leaders since the civil war.
Each anecdote or incident is fresh from Mr.
Edwards' notebook, and, either in whole or in part, it constitutes NEW NEWS OF YESTER-DAY, garnered from the men who made the news—the history—or from equally authoritative sources. As important contributions of the "human interest" sort to American history, these articles have a distinctive value all their own.

In my boyhood days I used to hear a great deal about Nicholas Biddle, who was really the creator and the highly successful director of the United States bank, which went out of existence as a national institution after President Andrew Jackson vetoed the bill
"rechartering it."

So said the late Judge Ashbel Green to me one afternoon in the fall of 1897.

Judge Green was of a distinguished New Jersey family. Some of his forebears served as presidents of Princeton college. He was near of kin to the Stockton family, one of whom was a distinguished officer of the American navy, and another, John P. Stockton, was United States senator from New Jersey in the mid-seventies.

Judge Green could himself have been governor of New Jersey had he been willing to accept the nomination. It was chiefly by his political skill that the nomination of General George B. McClellan for governor of New Jersey was made in 1877. A brother of Judge Green, Robert, was elected governor of New Jersey some twenty years ago.

Judge Green's family and the Stockton family were in somewhat intimate personal, although not political, relations with Nicholas Biddle, during all the time that the latter was president of the now traditional United States bank.

"It was after I was admitted to the bar," said Judge Green to me, "that I learned what I regard as the most valuable lesson taught by the career of Nicholas Biddle."

"I used to hear members of my family say that Mr. Biddle had shown extraordinary sagacity, something like genius, in the management of this great national institution, whose central office was at Philadelphia. I remember hearing some one say that it was amazing how perfectly President Biddle kept his fingers upon every one of the branch banks. He seemed to know almost by instinct what these branches were doing.
Upon one occasion he sent a large amount of silver, then the chief money metal of the country, to Savannah in time to prevent the success of a conspiracy to ruin the credit of the Savannah bank."

"I supposed in my early days, that Mr.
Biddle must have entered some bank when a mere boy, and had been trained to the banker's business and had become at last so thoroughly equipped by experience and practical banking that he was well qualified for the arduous, delicate and very successful work he performed as president of the bank in which the national government was interested and which handled its fiscal operations."

"You may judge of my astonishment when shortly after I began to practice law I heard that Nicholas Biddle was never trained as a banker. He did have something to do with the settlement of French claims against citizens of the United States, after Napoleon sold Louisiana to this country, and that seems to have been about his only training as a banker. I was told that he would have made conspicuous success as a literary man had he chosen to adopt literature as a vocation."

"I learned with astonishment that the man who was for years the most prominent and successful American banker was never identified, at least conspicuously, with any other banking institution than the Old Bank of the United States. That knowledge upset all my theories about the training which qualified a man to become a great banker."

"Then I began to look into the subject. I discovered that Alexander Hamilton, although he created the fiscal system of the United States, was no more than a theoretical banker, and that Albert Gallatin, who was possibly the greatest secretary of the treasury we have ever had, was not qualified by any banking training to speak of for his important duties. I have since learned that a majority of the really great bankers of the United States and almost all of the secretaries of the treasury were qualified for their successes exactly as Nicholas Biddle was—by great common sense, by accurate and sometimes intuitive judgment and by excellent comprehension and understanding of the fundamental laws upon which banking upon a large scale must be based if it is to be successful."

Character Cameos

By Robert V. Carr

Do you know anyone like this?

Type No. 133.—Actress, Age 23. Brunette.
Great dark eyes, and heavy, drooping eyelids.
Upper-lip, very expressive; under-lip pro-trudes slightly. Features seem capable of reflecting every emotion. With a slight tensing of the muscles of the throat and jaw, she can give her dimpled, alluring chin a pugnacious, masculine cast. Though her cheeks are curved and she is in the very bloom of health and beauty, she can simulate old age and decrepitude—and that, too, without make-up—in a manner so realistic as to make one fear her beauty has passed forever.
She seems a human kaleidoscope, yet her varying moods apparently disturb only the surface of her nature; the depths are still sound and health. Eats plain, wholesome food, breathes deeply and insists on cheerful and optimistic companionship. Believes in herself. Having a firm belief in herself, she is thus able to make the world believe in her, and accept her genius at her own valuation. With all that has to do with her work she is self-reliant, and she is, as a friend of hers is absolutely unselfish. She has no comprehension of the value of a dollar.
All that she knows about money is that it is made to spend. Always interesting and attractive.

Comment.—Much wisdom is gained by assuming many characters. From each character assumes the actress gains a new viewpoint. We who wear the same old clothes of character for a lifetime, must seem very dull and uninteresting when compared to a mortal who yesterday wore the rags of a beggar and today appears in the purple of royalty.

The World's Mysteries

WHO WERE THE MOUND BUILDERS?

In the central part of North America, along the valleys of the Mississippi and the Ohio rivers, from the Gulf of Mexico to the Great Lakes, there are remains of the works of an extinct race of people now known as the "Mound Builders." Who they were, from whence they came, and what became of them is a mystery. It is supposed that they were a people akin to those who settled in Mexico and Central America, and that they were a very different race from the North American Indians.

Is the Mound Builders idea a myth? Recent research has put a vastly different aspect on the question as to whom these people were, and recent historians have treated the subject very sparingly. In the first place, in the annals of the Columbian epoch it has been found that some of the mounds were constructed in historical time, while other explorers and settlers found many actually used by tribes of the North American Indians; so we know that many of them were builders of mounds.

Again, hundreds and thousands of these mounds have been carefully examined, and the works of art found therein have been collected and assembled in museums. At the same time the works of art of the Indian tribes, as they were produced before modification by European culture, have been assembled in the same museums, and the two classes of collections have been carefully compared. All this has been done with the greatest painstaking, and the Mound Builders' art and the Indians' art are found to be substantially identical.

Consequently there is little or no fragment of evidence to support the fgment of theory that there was an ancient race of Mound Builders superior in culture to the North American Indians. That some of these mounds were built and used in modern times is proved in another way. They often contain articles manifestly made by white men, such as glass beads and copper ornaments.

It is safe to assume that some of these mounds were built by Indian tribes extinct when Columbus first saw these shores, but they were kindred in culture to the peoples that still existed. The study of these mounds proves that they were used for a variety of purposes. Some were for sculpture and such are the most common and widely scattered.
Others were used as artificial hills on which to build communal houses. Some of the very large mounds were sites of large communal houses in which entire tribes dwelt. There is still a third class constructed as places for public assembly.

The majority of American archaeologists now see no different reason for supposing that any mysterious superior race has ever lived in any portion of our continent. Even if we accept the exaggerated statements of the Spanish conquerors, the most intelligent and advanced peoples found here were only semi-barbarians in the stage of transition from the stone to the bronze age, possessing no written language or what can properly be styled an alphabet and not yet having even learned the use of beasts of burden.

But in spite of the archaeological view there are many writers who still affirm that the mounds testify to the fact that, at a very remote age, a race of people, now extinct, was in possession of this country, from the frozen lakes of the north to the Gulf of Mexico, and from Vermont to the Rocky mountains. It is thought by them that the Aztecs, found in Mexico by Cortez, and the ancient Peruvians, whose empire was destroyed by Pizarro, may have been remnants of the mound builders, who were driven south by invading hordes, such as our Indian tribes, from the other continent across Behring strait, but even they admit that this is only conjecture.

They base their argument principally on the fact that in the design of heads on the pottery found in the mounds, and especially on clay pipe-bowls, there is a strong resemblance to the sculptured heads found in the ruins in Yucatan. There may come a time when the mystery of these mounds will be fully cleared in the minds of every one, but as yet even the most enlightened of the archaeologists are not absolutely sure regarding their theory.

THE POISONED SPRING.

By PHILIP WELTNER.

Secretary Prison Reform Association of Georgia.

Back into the origins, up the stream of heredity, hovering over the very cradle of the child, the forces for good and evil battle for the mastery. There is always a cause, some flaw in the stuff, god-given element which, in the conflicting contacts of life, may tear into a gaping, vicious rend.

The father was a great big, passive fellow, slow to speak and act the impulses of his being. To the mother, much younger than her husband, expression was the breath of life. She did not understand and never could understand this silent man. He spoke in looks, in moods, of whose depth and wealth of meaning she knew nothing. A breach came; it was inevitable. Family ties were torn asunder. She sinned. Three times the mother deserted the home she had been given to tend. The fourth time she was growing up in years. Disgrace meant nothing to him; his children meant everything. He closed the door against her return.

The tragedy was as silent as himself.
Each day, all day, he plods on in unremitting toil, bringing the children up as best he can. That is not much; he cannot make a home. Their little girl used to go to school.
That is over with now. The principal feared the child might contaminate the others with her vulgar notes and suggestive signs, so she was expelled. Every mother in the neighborhood set upon her the mark of Cain.
Idle, friendless, shunned, with no one to guide her, she plays the game of life in a desperate, losing way.

There is no one to bolster up the wavering good inherent in her life. She is too far gone to heed kindly counsel, to respond to the touch of a friendly spirit. Her trust is reposed in those who travel the downward road. Is there no healing, no cure for the spring of life, polluted at its source?

It would not be but for the fact that Georgia has no training school, where the suggestions for good may stand an even show with the suggestions for evil, where girls of this type may have time to reflect and put to test the meaning and worth of virtue and honor. And Georgia will have no such place until the legislature provides an appropriation for an industrial training school for wayward girls.

DISPOSAL PLANT TO BE FINISHED IN JUNESullivan Is Confident He Can Get Plenty of Stone to Complete Work.

The new $195,000 Peachtree Creek disposal plant will be completed in June, 1913, according to a statement made by M. S. Sullivan, of the Municipal Construction company, of Chattanooga.

Judge William T. Newman confirmed Sullivan as receiver to take charge of the bankrupt estate of Chester A. Dady, the contractor, and placed him in charge of the work of completing the Peachtree and Intrenchment Creek sewage plants, which have been estimated to cost about $400,000.

The court fixed the bond of the receiver at $10,000, and issued an order on the receiver to make estimates of the work under construction, an inventory of the material, and a report as to the general condition of the work.

Contracts for Stone. Following his confirmation, Receiver Sullivan made his first statement. He said that his first work toward completing the Peachtree plant will be to make contracts for stone.

"I have already spoken to a number of stone men," Receiver Sullivan explained, "and I feel sure that I will be able to contract for enough stone to complete the Peachtree plant by June 15."

Under an agreement between the city and the bonding company, which was ratified by council Monday afternoon, the receiver has been authorized to make contracts for material and secure labor. Receiver Sullivan explained that there are a number of details of the contract that will have to be given attention, but he said that he would have the work systematized within three weeks.

"Instead of making contracts for stone on thirty or sixty days, I am going to pay for stone, labor and material at the end of every week," Receiver Sullivan said. "I am also going to make a personal visit to the quarries and contract for the entire output of the crushers."

"By taking the entire output and paying for it at the end of the week, I will be holding out an inducement to the crushers to serve me first. They will need their money at the end of the week to meet payrolls, and will be glad to help me out if I help them. I have dealt with nearly every stone man in Georgia and Tennessee, and I am sure they will help me out."

The receiver explained that one of his first moves towards getting the stone shipped to the plant will be to first make all the contracts possible, and then regulate the rate of shipment to keep an ample supply on hand at the plants so that work can be proceeded without delay.

Regulated Contracts.

Discussing the stone situation, Receiver Sullivan said that while he was building the Peachtree Creek plant and the small sewage plant at East McPherson for the government, he was handicapped by a stone famine, but he explained that he regulated his contracts in such a way that he secured enough stone to keep the work progressing all the time.

Sullivan said that he would spend probably a week on the Peachtree and Intrenchment Creek jobs making the estimates of cost for the federal court. He says that the king party of the work at Peachtree creek is putting in the stone for the filter beds. There are a number of odds and ends to be completed while the filter beds are being filled in.

Chester A. Dady, who was awarded the contract by the city for both plants, will be retained by the receiver in an engineering capacity. He will remain in Atlanta until both contracts are completed.

Dady claims to have an equity of $27,540.45 in the Peachtree plant, and $38,526.73 in the Intrenchment Creek plant, and equipment valued at $30,000 at both plants.

The receiver says that he will have an ample force of laborers at work on both plants to complete them on time.

Under the agreement entered into by the American Bonding company of Baltimore, and the sewer committee and bond commission and ratified by council, the bonding company has agreed to assume responsibility for any cost additional to the contract price of the plants.

Chief of Construction Clayton said Tuesday that he felt certain the plants would be completed on time under the supervision of Receiver Sullivan.

Atlanta Letters Are Safe
Even If Address Is Wrong

Despite wrong address, this letter reached Atlanta.

Because Atlanta occupies such a prominent place on the map the post-office officials are often able to forward mail even when it is improperly addressed. That it is not always necessary for a letter to have "Atlanta, Ga." on it, but a statement or the name of some apartment will be quite sufficient, was demonstrated by a letter sent to Mrs. Ernest Norris, the wife of Atlanta's well-known citizen and superintendent of the Southern railway.

A remarkable thing connected with the misdirected letter which found its

He Attacked Mormonism
In California; Threatens to Expose It Here From Pulpit

Aroused by the news that the Mormons have gained a foothold in Atlanta and are planning a state-wide campaign for converts, Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church on Peachtree street, declares that the cult should be probed by the civic authorities of Atlanta, and that if necessary to expose it he will deliver a sermon on it from his pulpit.

Dr. DuBose, while editor of a San Francisco religious publication several years ago, openly attacked Mormonism and made many startling charges against the sect. He now threatens to do the same in Atlanta.

"I have studied Mormonism on the ground and know their every mean, petty trick," he said. "Atlanta has been investigating them here before they grew too strong. They should be suppressed by law—prevented from walking into homes and distributing their vile literature. If necessary I shall soon deliver a Sunday evening sermon telling in rigid language just what I know of this Mormon serpent and its nefarious clutches."

PARSON AND COUNCILMAN
EXCHANGE WARM WORDS

Rome, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—Dr. C. B. Hudgins, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal church and Councilman Luke McDonald, exchanged hot words at a city council meeting last night and friends feared for a time that they might come to blows over the discussion of whether or not there shall be a parkway on Fourth avenue between East Second and East Third streets which is being graded for pavement.

The clergyman referred to the attempt of the street committee, of which Alderman McDonald is a member, to make a "Billy-goat, tin-can alley" of the street in front of the church, and the city official jumped up and denounced the remarks as unbecoming a minister of the gospel. Diplomatic members put oil on the waters and the threatened break was averted.

The matter was deferred to a special session. The First Baptist church deacons and the members of the Episcopal church, opposing each other, bitterly opposed the parkway on the grounds that it would cause congestion on the street during funerals and marriages.

PRESBYTERIANS TO GET LOW RAILROAD RATES

The announcement has been made in magazines devoted to the affairs of the Presbyterian church that special trains will be run to Atlanta from Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and other points to accommodate the crowds expected to attend the joint meeting of the Presbyterian assemblies May 15 to 23. Especially low rates will be made to Atlanta from every section of the United States.

The first joint meeting of the assemblies of three great branches of the Presbyterian church is such an important and unusual event that it is expected to draw probably more people than any other religious convention ever held in this country.

The canvass of the Presbyterian families of the city to secure homes for the 1,500 commissioners to the assemblies is continuing through the present week. Monday a committee of twenty-five ladies was formed at the Central Presbyterian church to assist the canvass headed by Dr. Marion McH. Hull, and it is probable that by the end of the week every Presbyterian family in the city will have been visited by one or more members of the several committees.

NABBED FOR ROBBING
STORE IN AMERICUS

Tifton, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—A. L. Jones has been arrested by Chief of Police Thrasher this morning for burglarizing the hardware store of the Sheffield-Huntington Co. at Americus. Jones passed through Tifton last week having with him three rifles, which he was selling at greatly reduced prices. When he showed up again this morning selling pistols, shotguns and pocket knives, Chief Thrasher, in citizens clothes, picked him up for a trade. After he had purchased a $45 gun for $4.50, Mr. Thrasher placed Jones under arrest.

When searched Jones had two Jacksonville pawn tickets, one for a Jones calling for a watch and one for A. J. Jones calling for a revolver. Mr. Jones confessed taking the articles from the show window of the Americus firm.

way to Atlanta, where it belonged, was that it was directed to so large a city as New York. Even New York was not big enough to swallow up and lose an Atlanta letter. The letter bore Mrs. Norris' name and her home, the Rosslyn apartments, Ponce de Leon avenue, but the next line read, "New York City." It traveled to New York and then came straight back to Atlanta and to Mrs. Norris.

It might also be mentioned that this good piece of work on the part of the postoffice officials came just after a democratic admiral took charge of the nation's affairs.

Woman Suffrage a Success In Australia, Says Cowles;
They Keep Out of Politics

Because the women steer clear of politics and exercise the right without attempting to hold office, woman suffrage is a big success in Australia, says Dr. George H. Cowles.

On sociological conditions and methods of government in New Zealand and Australia, Dr. Cowles gave an interesting lecture Tuesday evening at the local Young Men's Christian association building. He told of the excellent laws which prevail in that section among the most successful of which is woman suffrage.

"When the women asked for the ballot several years ago," said Dr. Cowles, "they made a sane and logical request and accompanied it with no demonstration of law-breaking or anarchy. They said they desired to vote, but not to hold office in parliament or municipal affairs. The vote was granted and the country is far better off."

Among the other excellent laws Dr. Cowles described are the eight-hour law, the compulsory arbitration law, the twenty-seven-year land purchase law, the old age pensions and the compulsory Bible teaching in schools. Dr. Cowles will speak Wednesday night at the First Methodist church on Peachtree street, telling of the wonderful conversion of New South Wales.

LOCAL MEN DISPLEASED
BY Y. M. C. A. AWARD

Following the awarding yesterday afternoon of the new Y. M. C. A. building contract to the King Lumber company, of Charlottesville, Va., instead of to one of the local contracting concerns who had contributed to the building fund, the local contractors, as is indicated in an advertisement signed by C. F. Murphy, are very much displeased.

The winning bid of the King Lumber company was $247,500. The next lowest bid was $3,000 higher than that of the Virginia concern.

The contractors complain that not only was the contract awarded to a foreign concern which had not contributed to the building fund, but that the whole thing was a complete sham here to do the work and will import its building material, thus leaving Atlanta entirely out of the reckoning.

The committee which awarded the contract, after a consultation with the board of trustees, was composed of B. F. Willingham, Sam Inman, H. Y. McCord, Marion Jackson and J. K. Orr. Members of the building committee state that they were helpless to award the contract to any other than the lowest bidder, especially when $13,000 was saved by the bid.

HARRIS CO. TO WORK
CONVICTS ON ROADS

Columbus, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—Harris county, which has been leasing forty convicts to Muscogee county for some time, took back its convicts today, and will work the roads in that county in a scientific manner. The Harris county commissioners came down for the convicts, bringing a number of wagons, in which the prisoners were taken back.

There is quite a demand among counties in this section for convicts for road-building purposes, and Muscogee has just rented a number of convicts from Echols county, and is in the market for more.

MRS. WALTER MERRILL
TRIES TO END HER LIFE

Before the eyes of her three children, Mrs. Walter Merrill, a pretty woman of 24, drank carbolic acid late yesterday afternoon, in an attempt at suicide. She was carried to the Grady hospital, where it is reported she will live.

"I wanted to die because I was despondent and was tired of living. I don't want to live. There is nothing to live for," she told the internes at the Grady. That was her only excuse for the act.

Mrs. Merrill lived with her husband, Walter Merrill, at 174 Crumley street. Mr. Merrill is a tradesman and was out of the city at the time. He was notified by telegraph, and will reach home this morning.

PEACH CROP UNHURT
BY RECENT COLD SNAPGrowers Around Macon and at Fort Valley Say Fruit Is Uninjured.

Macon, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—The peach crop has not been damaged by the recent cold snap, according to reports from growers around Macon and in Houston county, one of the most noted peach sections of the state.

Judge W. H. Felton, one of the largest peach growers in Bibb county, says that he is not troubled about his orchards at Marshallville, and is confident that no damage has been done his crop.

While there was some frost in Macon early yesterday, it is not believed the local orchards are damaged.

Fort Valley, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—Coming as it did, the recent cold snap has not had the slightest effect upon the fruit of this section. The only damage of recent date was that caused by the heavy rains, which in some cases seriously affected the orchards by washing the pollen from the trees.

After the rains the wind thoroughly dried the blossoms before the cold weather came. The prospect is for an average fruit crop as to quantity, and the growers are expecting a more excellent quality than usual on account of the weather.

SOULE MAKES ADDRESS
IN MORGAN COURTHOUSE

Madison, Ga., March 18.—(Special).—At the solicitation of the chamber of commerce, Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the State Agricultural college of Athens, addressed a full meeting in the county courthouse here today. Large numbers from the surrounding country were present to listen to the words of encouragement and to gather information concerning what has been done for the benefit of the farmer.

Dr. Soule told of the remarkable results attained on the six test farms throughout the state during the past year, showing what is possible for those who will apply modern scientific methods in agriculture. He praised highly what has been accomplished by the constantly growing boys' corn clubs. The girls' canning clubs came in for a share of his praise and encouragement.

He was regretted by all present that Dr. Soule was compelled to cut his address short owing to the arrival of his train. He is expected to return at an early date and go still further into these matters which are interesting to this section so vitally.

YOUNG GIRL IS KILLED WHEN BOY COMPANION
POINTS A GUN IN FUN

Waycross, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)

While playing in a back garden this afternoon on Roosevelt street, Thelma Avant, the pretty 13-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Avant, was shot and instantly killed by Edwin Adams, a playmate, 14 years old. The shooting was accidental, the prior rifle the boy held going off while he was playfully pointing it at the girl. Both families are prostrated by the accident. A short while before the girl was killed, the rifle had gone off and the bullet came near piercing the Adams boy's foot.

No blame is attached to the death, but the father of the boy, George Adams, conferred with Chief of Police John Colly and said he wanted the law to do whatever was deemed necessary in the case.

The body of the girl will be taken to Homerville tomorrow for interment.

BRIAND AND CABINET THROWN OUT OF OFFICE

Paris, March 18.—Deaf to the eloquent argument of the French premier, Aristide Briand, embodied in what is pronounced the finest speech of his career, the senate tonight overthrew the government on the question of the new representation, the chamber of deputies already having passed this measure by a vote of 339 to 217 and practically the whole country had been clamoring for the political rearrangement provided by this bill. The senate, however, voted 159 to 128, had adopted the amendment introduced by Senator Paul L. Peytral, republican liberal, which proposed that the majority should receive the whole of the representation, the ministers resigning and the president in consultation. They then proceeded to the Elysee palace and handed their resignations to the president, who accepted the resignations, but requested the ministers to continue to transact current business until their successors should be appointed.

The only solution seemingly open is for President Poincare to dissolve the senate and call for new elections, made on the question of proportional representation, the new chamber would then have much at odds with the senate as ever.

POOLROOM CHARGES DENIED BY BATEMAN

Grand Jury Is Now Making Investigation of Allegations of Rothleuter.

In regard to the charges made against him by Frank Rothleuter, who claims that he was robbed of $9.00 by a fake poolroom scheme, Judge J. N. Bateman, of 502 North Boulevard, makes a complete denial of the statements made by his accuser. The case against Judge Bateman, which was brought originally at Miami, Fla., was dismissed in the city court there and on yesterday Rothleuter, through his attorneys, Forder, Anderson, Dillon & Whittman, appeared before the Fulton grand jury and asked that they indict the Atlanta. The case was taken up for investigation, but was discontinued and will be resumed Friday.

Judge Bateman holds that the dismissal of the case in Miami was an exoneration of the charges against him, which include operations of a gambling establishment, and in regard to the accusation makes the following statement:

"I am innocent of any charge made against me or indirectly. I never saw Brown or Blake, or have been robbed. I was in Miami from January 8 and until March 5, when I went to Palm Beach. I never was in any poolroom in Miami or elsewhere that was used for hooking horse races or other gambling. I do not know anything about such sports."

If never heard of Maybray or his gang, I never was in Cincinnati in my life, and I was in the west only once, in September, 1888, when I was company with John B. Goodwin, ex-mayor of Atlanta. I went to California to attend the Grand Sovereign Lodge of Odd Fellows. I went on professional business, however, and have not been west since, nor have I ever been in any of the cities mentioned in the charge of gaming. This charge came to me like a bolt of lightning from a clear sky. I do not know anything about it."

"I understand it is stated that I have a room rented on the third floor of a building on Whitehall street in Atlanta used for gambling purposes. This is an infamous lie. My wife, her sister and brother own No. 71 Whitehall street, a three-story building. Black Box, the third-story tenant, and they sub-let it to some one who runs a newspaper or magazine of some sort. We have had no trouble with the building, and it cannot be shown that I am the lessee of any other than this one on Whitehall street. I do not occupy the first floor and Menter-Rosenbloom company occupy the second floor."

"I expect to prove myself innocent of any charge that has been or may be made."

INMAN PRESIDES OVER EDUCATIONAL MEETING

Edward H. Inman will preside at the educational mass meeting to be held Sunday afternoon, March 20, at the old Orpheum theater under the auspices of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial Institute, and numbers of leaders among both the white and negro races who are working for a better race feeling and to raise the educational, moral and economic conditions among the southern negroes, will make addresses.

Among the speakers are Mayor James G. Woodward, Dr. H. M. D. Bosc, of the First Methodist church; Charles J. Haden, Dr. Hugh K. Walker, of the First Presbyterian church; Bishop Henry M. Tanner, Dr. C. M. Tanner, of Big Bethel church; Dr. H. H. Proctor, of the Congregational church; Dr. Milton N. Armstrong and Dr. E. H. Oliver, of Warren Chapel.

A splendid program of musical selections has been prepared that will attract attention on its own merit. This is to consist of solos by Mrs. Kate Hamilton and by Walter Dickinson, and several songs in chorus by the students of the Institute.

REVIVAL AT ST. PAUL'S DRAWING BIG CROWDS

The revival now going on at St. Paul's Methodist church, and which will last for two weeks, is drawing great crowds of people who want to hear Dr. H. C. Morrison, one of the most powerful evangelists in the country. Dr. Morrison is not only a great preacher but most magnetic man. He can make his audience weep one moment and laugh the next. He keeps up the most intense interest from the beginning to the close of his talks.

"He is one of our greatest living preachers, and no Christian in Atlanta should miss the opportunity of hearing him," states Dr. Fraser, the pastor. "He is a man who cannot fail to do great good, and I earnestly hope that the people of Atlanta will come out and hear him."

The revival services are made more delightful and pleasing by the excellent solo singing of Charles F. Weigle and Ted C. J. Lynne, who are accompanied by the choir of St. Paul's.

There will be services every day this week at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evenings. On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a special meeting for the young people and mothers. All the children are invited to be present, as the services will be made especially interesting for them.

The Woodward avenue cars will reach the church, which is on the corner of St. Paul avenue and Grant street.

GEORGIA STATE TROOPS MAY CAMP AT ST. SIMON

Brunswick, Ga., March 18.—(Special.) It is more than probable that the entire Georgia state troops will hold their annual encampment on St. Simon this summer, with the exception of probably one or two regiments. A plan is now on foot to make the island the encampment place for all regiments during the month of July.

Two Georgia regiments, the Fifth and the Second, have already decided definitely on St. Simon and the matter is now up before various other regiments in the state. The Fifth and the Second are both to come in July. It has been learned here that the place of encampment will be left to the choice of the individual regiments.

BRYAN NOT MEDDLING IN ILLINOIS MIX-UP

Secretary Carried No "Secret Message" From Wilson on Senatorial Situation.

Springfield, Ill., March 18.—William J. Bryan, secretary of state, had no "secret message" from President Wilson concerning the Illinois senatorial situation, he told members of the Illinois legislature today. Mr. Bryan asserted he came more as a private citizen, "speaking to those who are interested with great responsibility," than as an official.

Only in the most general terms did Secretary Bryan refer to the complex Illinois political problem.

"I am not here to tell you what you ought to do," he said. "I decline to tell, even if I am asked, for two reasons. In the first place, the responsibility is not upon me, it is upon you. In the second place, your knowledge must be more complete than mine. One from the outside must rely upon those who communicate to him, and if their communication is for any reason incomplete or inaccurate, he then is not well informed."

Concerning President Wilson's attitude, Mr. Bryan said:

"The president represents the ideal of public life in politics, not the ideal of secrecy."

Col. J. H. Lewis, democratic primary nominee for United States senator, and William L. O'Connell, of Chicago, political advisers of Governor Dunne, accompanied Mr. Bryan and Governor Dunne from Chicago to Springfield. The four were closeted in Mr. Bryan's state room for an hour.

Mr. Bryan would not comment on the criticism directed against him in The London Morning Post, calling him "a traitor to his country."

The eleventh joint ballot on the long term United States senatorship resulted in no choice.

The tenth joint ballot on the short term senatorship resulted in no choice. James Hamilton Lewis, democratic primary nominee, lost eight of his party votes on the eleventh ballot. His total was 85, whereas on Thursday it was 91, a net loss of six. Two progressives voted for him today.

With four of his party absent, the vote of Lawrence Y. Sherman, republican primary nominee, was kept within one of the full party strength in the assembly by the vote of three progressives.

COLORED Y. M. C. A. AIDED BY TAG DAY

A most enthusiastic meeting of the workers now engaged in collecting the pledge money for the new building for the Y. M. C. A. work among colored men, was held at the Association building last Monday night. Considerable interest was centered in this meeting, as this was the time set apart for the report on tag day by many of the leading pastors of the city who were present. The men were doubly inspired by a strong address by International Secretary Weatherford, of Nashville, Tenn., who is giving his life to the association work in the south.

And while all of the reports on the tag day work have not yet come in, it is more than probable that the entire Georgia state troops will hold their annual encampment on St. Simon this summer, with the exception of probably one or two regiments. A plan is now on foot to make the island the encampment place for all regiments during the month of July.

Two Georgia regiments, the Fifth and the Second, have already decided definitely on St. Simon and the matter is now up before various other regiments in the state. The Fifth and the Second are both to come in July. It has been learned here that the place of encampment will be left to the choice of the individual regiments.

Miss Ella Smith, West Salem, Ill., back injured.

J. B. Smith, Bristol, Tenn., back hurt.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail. Four sleepers and the day coach left the rails and turned over. One sleeper was hurled into a creek. The injured were brought to a Macon hospital, where they received medical aid.

The accident occurred near Bon Air, Ga. There were 126 passengers aboard the train and all that prevented a serious disaster was the fact that the train was running very slowly at the time of the accident.

The Dixie Flyer was running at the reduced rate of 25 miles an hour, because it was closely following the South Atlantic Limited. At the point of the wreck the usual speed is 50 miles.

A rail split after the engine and express and baggage car had passed, throwing the other coaches off the track. A day coach turned over an embankment, and a sleeper crashed into a telegraph pole, the netted crosspiece on the roadbed and the last plunged into a creek.

Sleeper Berths Flooded.

The third sleeper was half flooded with water, and when the occupants were finally rescued they were half frozen and unable to locate their clothing. Many of them came to Macon without shoes and had to purchase footwear here. These passengers were the worst frightened of all the 125 on board, as they awoke to find water splashing in their berths and themselves almost standing on their heads.

A relief train was sent to the wreck, returning to Macon at 10 o'clock. All of the passengers were given breakfast here.

Engineer Hunkle and Conductor Collier were in charge of the train.

ORGANIZATION. Personality is not the only attribute an hotel must have to be successful. It must be organized, and the definition of "organize," according to Webster, is: "To arrange a task in suitable parts so that it may be performed efficiently."

To arrange in suitable parts is the secret of organization, and this arrangement can only be made by men trained in the work; by generals who can lead efficiently. Organization then can do much for your personal comfort.

How would your own business succeed without organization, without the division into units, each under a competent head?

Take the bell boys' department, the maids' department, the lost and found department, the restaurant, the Dutch room, the musical department, the vaudeville show, and in fact on and on to the steamship department, the information department, the stenographic department, the receiving and shipping department, the laundry, the valet department—all the various departments must be under a competent head and run as a unit to be run with efficiency; efficiency of such a nature that you are served by them all in a proper manner.

The average person knows very little about the schooling and training necessary to have every employee, from the clerk who greets you at the desk to the porter who sees you to your train, serve you as you should be served, with courtesy and as though it were a pleasure to please. This instruction and training is the finishing touch to organization. This is what makes organization 98 per cent plus. Every one is taught that courtesy and consideration are the first steps toward their own success.

And how you will notice this courtesy by comparison. No matter where you have stopped in the past, you will see the difference in the treatment you receive at the Martiniere. You will feel that the attendants go out of their way to please you; you will realize the true meaning of organization at the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R.

An enjoyable meeting of the Atlanta chapter, D. A. R., was held in the chapter house, the 15th of March. The most important announcement was the afternoon tea to be given at the home of the regent, Mrs. J. Osgood Wynn, on Peachtree circle, April 15. This will be the twenty-second birthday of the chapter, one of the very oldest and the largest in Georgia, and one that all of the members are taking such an enthusiastic interest. No formal invitations will be issued, but every member is expected to be present. A delightful program was as follows, an aftermath of the inauguration of President Wilson.

Piano solo by Mrs. Slaton. Miss Ethel Tye, the bright young daughter of Judge and Mrs. John L. Tye and a pupil of the Girls' High school, gave a most interesting paper of her trip to Washington.

Miss Nora Belle Starke read the account by Washington Irving of our first inauguration, that of George Washington.

An interesting talk of the Court of Honor, designed by Mr. Wood was given by Miss Virginia Wood. Miss Wood, a sister of the architect, whose work has created quite a stir in Washington, is an interesting visitor in Atlanta.

Piano solo by Mrs. Slaton. The Atlanta chapter will be represented at the state conference in Augusta by the following delegates: Mrs. J. O. Wynn, regent; Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. C. B. Walker, Mrs. Arch. Avery, Mrs. A. A. Little, Mrs. V. J. Adams, Mrs. J. P. Womble, Miss Dagmar Sams.

Rudin-Mauer.

The marriage of Miss Abbie Laura Rudin and Mr. Leon Gale Mauer took place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the study of Rev. W. H. Hendrix at Wesley Memorial Tabernacle.

The bride was attired in a tailored suit of shepherd's plaid with Oriental trimmings, and her hat was of blue hemp with a shaded ostrich feather, and she carried bride's roses.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mauer were the guests of a party of friends at a luncheon at the Piedmont hotel.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. L. C. Rudin, and has a host of friends by whom she is dearly beloved on account of her sunny disposition and charming personality. Mr. Mauer, who holds a responsible position with the Standard Oil company, is one of the progressive young men of the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Mauer will be at home after April 1 at 301 Peachtree street.

Story of the Cross in Music.

No picture can portray the wonderful last words of Christ, the blood-thirsty cry of the rabble, the moans of the mother, or the ominous rumble of the earthquake. Music alone can do this.

On Good Friday evening, the 21st, at 8 o'clock, the splendid vested-choir of All Saints' church will sing "The Story of the Cross," composed by an eminent composer, the late Dudley Buck. All special musical services at All Saints' bring forth great crowds of people to hear good music well rendered. The church building could not hold more than half of the people who came to hear the last sacred recital. The public is always cordially invited to attend without any charge for admission.

Wesley Memorial Hospital.

The second meeting of the year of the Woman's auxiliary to Wesley Memorial hospital meets at Wesley Memorial church Wednesday morning at 10:30 in the Barosa hall, and a full attendance is desired. Those in arrears, both in and out of the city are urged to send their dues so the treasurer of the auxiliary can make the report complete.

Dr. Martin to Lecture.

Dr. Alfred W. Martin, associate leader of the New York Ethical society and well-known lecturer, will give the fourth of the series of ethical lectures arranged by the committee of ethical lectures of Atlanta at Cable hall Monday evening, March 31. His subject will be "The Symphony of Religions."

These lectures are made free to the public through the interest and generosity of fifty citizens of Atlanta. For an interested audience rather than a large one, Cable hall has been selected, and owing to its limited capacity those anxious to hear Dr. Martin should send in their request for tickets to the secretary of the committee, J. C.

COOKING SCHOOL WILL OPEN IN AUDITORIUM NEXT MONDAY

The Cooking school, which will hold in the Auditorium beginning next Monday, is inspiring a universal interest among the women of Atlanta. The enterprise is to be under the auspices of the woman's board of the Home For Incubables, and every arrangement is being made to insure its success. Mrs. Anna Christ Strong, head of the department of domestic science of the University of Cincinnati, will give the lectures at the cooking school. She will have corps of demonstrators, and there will be equipment which will show the very latest of devices for saving the time and strength of the housekeeper. The plan of the lectures will be announced within the next few days. The hygiene of the nursery and the most approved methods for preparing food for babies will be demonstrated in a booth, to be presided over by the Atlanta division of registered nurses. This means that each day, each sanitarium in the city will furnish a corps of workers to demonstrate at the booth the following program for the nurses: Monday, Grady hospital; Tuesday, Elkin-Goldsmith; Wednesday, Davis Fletcher; Thursday, St. Joseph; Friday, Tabernacle; Saturday, Piedmont and Wesley Memorial.

An interesting feature of the week will be the baby show, which will take place next Friday afternoon, March 28, the show to begin at 3 o'clock. Prizes will be offered in three classes: Babies under 1 year, under 2 years, under 3 years. The entrance fee for babies is 25 cents; for mothers and nurses, 10 cents.

Berry School Will Get A Bequest of $100,000 Unless Miss Shedd Weds

Rome, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—News has reached Rome of the unique provision in the will of Freeman Shedd, the Lowell, Mass. millionaire, who died recently at Miami, Fla., and who, among other bequests to educational institutions of the east, left $100,000 to the Berry School for Girls.

This bequest contains the provision that should Mary Belle Shedd, his daughter, who is now 40 years of age, wed and have children, the entire estate is to go to the offspring. Lowell friends of the daughter have pointed out that she will not wed, but will devote her efforts to directing the proper distribution of the $300,000 estate to the schools and hospitals that her father wished to benefit.

The city of Lowell, the Lowell General hospital, and Norfolk's seminary, which was founded by Dwight Moody, are each to receive $100,000 if there are no grandchildren.

MRS. M. A. HARTZ SUING HUSBAND FOR DIAMONDS

BRUNSWICK'S TRAFFIC IS GREATLY DELAYED

Brunswick, Ga., March 18.—(Special.) High water between Brunswick and Macon on the Southern railway and between Brunswick and Douglas on the A. B. & A. has greatly delayed traffic over these two lines during the past two or three days. Passenger trains on the Southern are running many hours behind time. Yesterday it was 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon before the first train arrived on that line, and it was only a short run between Brunswick and Jesup. Atlanta passengers and mail due in here at 7:45 yesterday morning, did not arrive until 8 last night. The fresh water streams are all reported to be over their banks and considerable damage has resulted.

SOCIETY

Club Entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McLean entertained the members of the Tuesday Evening Dinner Club and a few extra guests very delightfully last evening at their home in West End. Palms and ferns, with a profusion of daffodils and white hyacinths, attractively decorated the house, and all the details were in yellow, white and green.

Afternoon Bridge Party.

Mrs. Thomas P. Hinnman entertained at three tables of bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on West Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Louise Collier, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert W. Davis.

Quantities of jonquils in artistic arrangement decorated the apartments, and the prizes were silk stockings. Mrs. Hinnman was crowned for the afternoon in blue charmeuse satin.

For Miss Silvey.

Miss Alice Silvey will be the guest of honor at a tea Friday afternoon to be given by Miss Mabel Thompson, who is a member of Miss Silvey's class of young girls in the First Baptist Sunday school.

The guests will include the other members of the class, who are Misses Katherine Whitman, Katherine Davis, Winnie Bell Davis, Lillian Delaney, Sara Orme, Eunice Leinweber, Marjorie Flowers, Grace Robinson, Lydia Wheeler, Rosemary and Marion Reed.

Miss Fannie Thrasher will entertain at a tea at the Georgian Terrace, and Miss Edna May will give a box party next week in compliment to Miss Silvey.

Miss Grace Davis entertained at a box party Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Silvey. The guests were Miss Alice Silvey, Misses Elizabeth and Irene Silvey, Miss Edna May and Miss Nell McCarty.

At "Old Orchard."

Mrs. J. J. McGrath gave a pretty luncheon yesterday at "Old Orchard," her country home, in compliment to Mrs. H. B. Cowles, of Williamsburg, Va., the guest of Mrs. Dudley Cowles, the party including a group of ladies who traveled together in Europe last summer.

The table centerpiece was a plateau of jonquils, and the place cards were hand-painted in jonquils and narcissi. The candles had white shades under gold filigree, and souvenirs in white and gold china at each place were pretty details of a prevailing decoration in these colors.

Mrs. Hartley in Recital.

Mrs. Sybil Owen Hartley, soprano, who has recently come from Chicago to make her home in Atlanta, will give a recital at Cable hall at an early date.

The announcement is one of real musical interest, since Mrs. Hartley's first appearance in Atlanta as vocalist last Sunday at Dr. Starnes' organ recital, under the auspices of the Music Festival association, at the Auditorium-Armory, had proved that the enthusiastic press accounts from Chicago, which had preceded her arrival here, were faithful descriptions of her ability.

She knows the art of singing, and her voice is of concert standard. Her tone is pure, its production easy, and her voice has the power and the carrying quality to sustain its splendid resonance through the auditorium—a big test.

The evening of song she is soon to afford will give more varied opportunity for the exposition of her talent and her very adequate handling of it.

MEETINGS

The superintendent of railroad work will conduct the service for the Atlanta Frances Willard Woman's Christian Temperance union in the interest of that department at the regular session, which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the Sunday school room of Trinity church. Visitors are cordially invited, and members are urged to be present.

The Nineteenth Century History class will meet with Mrs. Bolling Jones, 913 Peachtree street, this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

NEW TRIAL IS GIVEN TO FRANK McDONALD

Frank McDonald, who was sentenced to eight years for killing O. B. Stevens, Jr., son of the former agricultural commissioner, was granted a new trial by the court of appeals yesterday.

The McDonald boy, who slashed Stevens to death in a knife duel in Auburn avenue a year ago, was convicted of manslaughter in the superior court last fall during the same term in which Policeman J. W. Camp was acquitted of murdering Policeman S. A. Belding, his roommate.

The case was taken by W. W. Smith, the lawyer's attorney, to the higher court on a point over Judge L. S. Bouslog's instructions to the jury and ordering a new trial the court of appeals held: "On the trial of one charged with murder, where the defense relied upon justifiable homicide as a defense for a plea of self-defense, it was erroneous to instruct the jury to the effect that the burden was on the accused to establish this defense to the satisfaction of the jury and beyond a reasonable doubt. This placed the burden on the accused, while the law places it on the state."

GRIFFIN PREPARING FOR BIG CHAUTAUQUA

Griffin, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—For the first time in the history of the place the people of Griffin are at work perfecting plans for a week of chautauqua here this summer. An association of fifty of the leading business men of the town are back of the enterprise and have pledged the funds for its financial success.

At a mass meeting held last night in the parlors of the Griffin hotel Hon. L. P. Goodrich was elected president of the association, while B. C. Randall was chosen secretary and treasurer. With these is an executive committee of five, in whose hands the entire work of preparation has been placed. This is the first attempt ever made to hold a chautauqua here, but judging from the enthusiasm of the present, the prospects are that this one will be a great success. It is proposed to secure a tent with a seating capacity of at least 1,500 and to bring here some of the best platform talent in America.

Trains on Schedule.
Thomasville, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—All trains in this section are about back on schedule time and the washouts from the storm and heavy rains repaired. Through trains from the west are again coming in on the Atlantic Coast line and the Atlanta sleepers over the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic cape through again yesterday.

WOMEN OF GEORGIA PLEDGE AID TO THE WOMAN'S EDITION

Letters read yesterday from women leaders in Augusta, Athens, Macon, Bainbridge and Columbus, at the meeting of the central committee of workers for the Woman's Edition of The Constitution indicate that the federated clubs of Georgia when united on any project assure its success.

Mrs. John J. Ottley presided at a meeting of the executive board which met previous to the meeting of the central committee, and Mrs. J. J. McGovern presided at the latter. Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale called for reports from chairmen of committees in the department of advertising, and their statements proved most inspiring.

Mrs. F. J. Sprattling and Mrs. B. C. Phillips, of the board of management, had interesting reports to make, and Mrs. R. B. Parker announced that she, as business manager, had begun her work of organizing in the state.

Mrs. Edward T. Brown, associate editor in chief; Mrs. Arthur Powell, chairman of publicity and circulation; Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, Mrs. James Jackson, Mrs. J. R. Waits, Mrs. Jerome Jones, Mrs. D. B. Gray, Mrs. B. C. Lyle, Mrs. F. T. Truax, Mrs. S. M. Bowman, Mrs. W. B. Price Smith, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Frank Nealy, Mrs. Zahner were among those reporting for the work undertaken by them, and Mrs. J. K. Ottley reported for Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, who was absent from the meeting on account of illness. Mrs. Ottley referred to the fact that Mrs. Lowry's work for the many good things which women are working for now antedated women's organizations, and that her first work was when she was a little girl, and visited hospitals in Atlanta, bringing flowers and dainties to sick soldiers. Mrs. Lowry has done valuable work for the success of the Woman's Edition, Mrs. Ottley explained.

Mrs. Shepherd W. Foster, regent of the D. A. R. in Georgia, has been asked to present the subject of the Woman's Edition at the forthcoming meeting of the D. A. R. in Augusta. Though the D. A. R. being a national organization is not federated with the organized women of the Georgia federation, there is the warmest interest expressed by these sister organizations toward one another.

A letter from Mrs. John Donaldson, of Bainbridge, president of the city federation in that city, states that the women will contribute their part toward the success of the Woman's Edition.

YOUNG GIRL ESCAPES DEATH MIRACULOUSLY UNDER HORSE'S FEET

Alighting from a street car in East Point last night at 9 o'clock, Miss Ethel Peacock, of 42 Pearce street, Atlanta, stepped directly into the path of a speeding horse and buggy, and had a miraculous escape from death beneath the horse's feet.

She was painfully cut about the head and bruised all over by her experience. She was assisted to the home of Dr. George C. Timble, nearby, and later was able to return to her home. Her escort, J. H. O'Kelly, was also knocked down, but was not hurt.

Whipping up his horse, the driver of the buggy drove away as fast as he could. The horse, however, was later found by Frank Lane and Fred Emory, ran after him in hot pursuit. They finally overtook the vehicle and chugging the driver, who gave his name as John Nash, over to the East Point police, and he was held on a charge of drunkenness and reckless driving.

STEAM SHOVEL GETS MADDOX IN TROUBLE

Afternoon J. W. Maddox will be tried today before the recorder on a charge of violating the smoke ordinance. His steam shovel, the machine that has been the bone of many recent contentions, is the cause.

Inspector Cecil Poole avers it made too much smoke in chugging its jaws through the dirt of Healey's hole at Walton and Forsyth streets. A case will be booked against Mr. Maddox this morning and he will be arraigned in police court at 2:30 o'clock.

Epworth League Meets.
Waycross, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—At Blackshear tomorrow night the Epworth League conference of the Waycross district will open, and will continue through Friday. Among those who will address the conference are Rev. F. W. Ellis, presiding elder of the Waycross district; Rev. O. F. Cook, pastor of the First Methodist church of Waycross; Miss Margaret Crawley and Mrs. E. P. Peabody, of Waycross.

Zahner were among those reporting for the work undertaken by them, and Mrs. J. K. Ottley reported for Mrs. Robert J. Lowry, who was absent from the meeting on account of illness. Mrs. Ottley referred to the fact that Mrs. Lowry's work for the many good things which women are working for now antedated women's organizations, and that her first work was when she was a little girl, and visited hospitals in Atlanta, bringing flowers and dainties to sick soldiers. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FOR GEORGIA IS PLANNED

There will probably be organized within a few months a state chamber of commerce which will work for the development of Georgia's commercial interests.

General Louis Andre Dead.
Dijon, France, March 18.—General Louis Joseph Nicolas Andre, former minister of war, died today. General Andre was born in 1838. He was minister of war for several years prior to 1904, but on November 16 of that year he was succeeded by M. Bertheaux.

BATTE IS PLANNED ON MARTHA'S HOME

The Seventh Ward Improvement Club Leaders Declare It Must Be Moved.

The committee of the Seventh Ward Improvement club which is seeking to have removed from Gordon street the Martha home for fallen women, which moved to the old Pearce place only last Monday failed in its request to Marion Jackson yesterday for removal and are now planning to take the matter up with the board of county commissioners and the county police, according to an announcement made last night.

"If the city police board and department can move the Martha's home from Harris street where people objected to," said a member of the committee, "the county authorities can do as much for us, who are suffering upon now."

When the committee called at the office of John J. Eagan, in the Third National bank building, Tuesday to ask that the home be made to move on, it found that Mr. Eagan was out of the city, and the committee, headed by S. L. Dallas, proceeded across Five Points to the Equitable building, where it paid a visit to Marion Jackson. After an extended session the interview broke up with the distinct understanding on the part of Mr. Jackson that Martha's home would stay where it is, and the adverse decision upon the part of the seventh warders that the home should not abide within their gates.

"Did Not Treat Us Right."

Mr. Dallas said last night: "I do not care to get into the limelight about the matter, but if you are going to say anything from me you may say that Mr. Jackson and Mr. Eagan have not been fair to us."

"The old Pearce place was purchased in Mr. Eagan's name for the sum of $8,200, and the home was moved in. We started to Mr. Jackson, and we did not want the home in our neighborhood and were willing to buy the place from Mr. Eagan, giving him a profit of $500. When this was not agreeable, we agreed to purchase another site for the home, which also failed to meet with Mr. Jackson's approval. We made Mr. Jackson every reasonable proposition we could think of. His decision was that he was 'tired of fighting now, and that he would let us fight him a while.' The matter being put up to us, we are going to fight him, and what's more we are going to move the home."

Site Best We Can Find.
Mr. Jackson said last night: "We considered carefully many sites for the Martha's home, and finally decided that the best possible location we could find was the present one on Gordon street. It is outside the city limits, with a cemetery on one side of it and a railroad right of way on the other. It is not near any houses. We do not see why there should be any objection to this location and are inclined to leave the home where it is."

The committee contends that there are at least 200 people living within a radius of half a mile of the old Pearce place, and that the house is located on a main thoroughfare where it is a neighborhood, to its detriment.

ON HIS LAST DOLLAR HE ASKS FOR PRAYER TO CURE HIS THIRST

Rome, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—Changing a dollar bill for a stranger on a street car yesterday, Mr. Willis, who lives on the Summerville pike, last night was surprised to find on examination of it last night the following inscription, written legibly with ink:

"This is the last dollar that I have left of a mis-spent fortune. Now I am going to spend it for strong drink the way my entire fortune was squandered. All good Christians that read this, please pray that my desire for rum will vanish." C. C. Cartier, Baltimore, Md., Nov. 1, 1912. The bill is being exhibited as an object of curiosity and it is not at all improbable that the local Women's Christian Temperance Union officers will write to the address given.

FARM WORK DELAYED IN VICINITY OF PUTNAM

Eaton, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—Little work has been done on the farms and what has been done was washed away by the recent severe rains. The conditions are more like those of 1912 in this county than 1911. If anything they are worse for the planting is delayed at least three weeks. The farmers seem very blue over conditions.

Reports brought here by those in attendance upon the superior court from the adjoining counties of Baldwin and Morgan county indicate that the conditions are the same in those counties.

Corn Club Organized.

Griffin, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—The Spalding County Corn club was organized here a day or so ago for the purpose of this county's carrying off the state prize this year for the largest and best yield. The mass meeting was attended by representative farmers from every section of the county and enthusiasm was the keynote. Some marvelous yields were made in this section a year ago, but it is planned now to use the experience gained then and to about double anything ever achieved in this county before. Hon. J. O. A. Miller, the county school commissioner, is at the head of the movement, but he is receiving strong support from the business men as well as the farmers. This year some $500 will be offered in prizes for best yields and best specimens of work.

Mrs. Perrigo Is Prostrated By Receiving False Report That Her Husband Is Dead

Athens, Ga., March 18.—(Special.)—Mrs. Harry Perrigo, formerly of Atlanta, staying temporarily with her father, T. B. Wooten, here, was prostrated this afternoon by a wire from Memphis announcing that her husband, had been killed. Details were unavailable. Tonight she was wired that the message was a mistake.

Perrigo's roommate was killed and friends, finding Perrigo's coat and his wife's address on letters in the pocket, immediately wired the Athens young

Mr. Rockefeller, during the past few weeks, has considerably improved in health, but his throat is still giving him considerable trouble, and he is now able to talk on in a whisper.

Cottolene

PANTRY

Pastry can be "pasty" or "tasty"—much depends upon the cooking fat used. Cottolene is preferable to butter or lard for shortening because it makes pastry rich without the least suggestion of greasiness. It also makes it light, crisp and digestible.

In addition to giving better results, Cottolene is cheaper than butter, more economical than lard. Two-thirds of a pound of Cottolene will go as far as a full pound of butter or lard, and Cottolene is usually as cheap as or cheaper than lard.

Buy a pail of Cottolene today, try this recipe, and let "hubby" render the verdict when he tries the food.

Made only by THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY

COTTOLENE DOUGHNUTS—Cream three tablespoons Cottolene, add scant cup of sugar, 3 yolks of eggs well beaten with one white, stir in one cupful of freshly mashed potatoes and 1/4 cup of milk. Sift 2 1/2 cups flour with 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon each of salt and ground mace, also a little nutmeg, and add to first mixture, working in additional flour as necessary to handle lightly. Roll and cut all doughnuts before frying. Fry in hot Cottolene 3 inches deep in kettle, testing the temperature with piece of bread.

SCHOOL GIRLS PLAN BATTLE ON HIGH COST OF LIVING

Miss Nan Outland (with pot), Miss Lamar Coleman (with cup and saucer), Miss Mary Ella ("Sunshine") Gibson (with bowl), and Miss Fay Taylor (with broken egg).

Maps have been changed and thrones have tumbled at the capricious twiddling of milady's pink finger, and so it comes a matter of small surprise that today in Atlanta old Humpty-Dumpty High-Cost-of-Living will have a great fall, when four young ladies of the Domestic Science club of Miss Woodberry's school undertake the Herculean task of furnishing a score of healthy Hebes with three square meals at the maximum cost of $7.10.

The question upon which a nation bides with breathless suspense, however, is whether the king's horses and men will be able to put Sir H. D. High-Cost-of-Living back together again, and set at naught the philanthropic endeavors of the fair experimenters.

Invade Market Places.

Bright and early Tuesday morning a formidable foraging squad invaded the market places of Atlanta. A grocery clerk never parted his hair in the midst of worse a red neck tie who could withstand their onslaught. In command of the invaders was pretty Miss Fay Taylor, president of the Domestic Science club, and Miss Lamar Coleman, secretary of the club, was her able chief of aides. The standing army consisted of Misses Nan Edith Outland and Mary Ella Gibson. They were fully armed and equipped with the aforesaid $7.10, and the object of the expedition was to get the most

"vittles" for the least money.

Needless to say, they got 'em. The first test of their minimized eating plan will be tried this morning, when twenty fair students of Miss Woodberry's school come down to breakfast.

At breakfast the Taylor-Outland-Gibson-Coleman alliance against the High Cost of Living will serve the following menu at a total outlay of $2.60:

Oranges, bacon, poached eggs, toast and coffee.

At lunch and dinner the expense account will be the same. Here is the bill of fare.

Lunch: Cream of tomato soup, spaghetti with onion sauce, hot rolls, baked apples and chocolate.

Dinner: Bouillon beef, pot roast, browned potatoes, fruit salad and fresh cake with whipped cream.

Atlanta's By Naturalization.
The members of the economy squad are Atlantans only by temporary naturalization, if you please. Miss Taylor hails from Summerville; Miss Gibson from Appalachicola, Fla.; Miss Outland from Statesboro, and Miss Coleman comes from the distant port of Baltimore.

The low-cost menu is in effect only for today, and its future depends entirely upon this experiment. The try-out upon the young ladies, however, is considered a fair test, for where is the heartless man who would not starve himself to death rather than exceed the financial dictates of such housekeepers as these?

By the way, here's a secret. There's not a one of the cooks over eighteen summers! How'd you like to take the last biscuit on the plate?

Cities to Merge.

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 18.—Winston-Salem and Salem will be one municipality after May 1 next. This was decided at an election held today in which the former approved consolidation by a majority of 540 and the latter by 161. A street running east and west has been the dividing line between the two municipalities for 55 years. Greater Winston-Salem will have a population of 25,000, according to the last census.

Skin Peeling Nature's Aid to New Complexion

(From Woman's Tribune.)
Mercedol wax is a natural beautifier. By flaking off the vitalized surface skin, it merely hastens Nature's work. The second skin layer, brought gradually to view, exhibits the healthy, youthful color produced by capillary circulation. This because the capillaries are thus brought nearer the surface; also because the new skin is unsoiled by dust and dirt. This wax, to be had at any drug store (and hence will do) is put on nightly like cold cream, washed off mornings with warm water. Its use actually, thus, is completed in from seven to ten days, long enough not to show too marked results from day to day, or cause pain or detention indoors.

To Make Your Hair Beautiful USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Reasonable care and effort is all that is required to enable almost any woman to have good hair. When the hair falls out, it is stringy, uneven, dry, brittle and generally unsightly, the condition is nearly always due to dandruff and the germ that causes it.

Before the hair will grow naturally and luxuriantly, the scale-like accumulation must be removed and the dandruff germ destroyed. That is what Newbro's Herpicide does. It is an aid to nature. Herpicide keeps the scalp clean, adds a softness and luster to the hair which indicates health. It not only prevents the hair from falling out, but causes it to become one of woman's greatest charms.

Beautiful hair and lots of it may be the reward of every woman willing to devote a little personal effort to the use of the First and Original Dandruff Germ Destroyer. Herpicide stops itching.

MANY ARE SEEKING TO SUCCEED MURRAY

Washington, March 18.—Many applications have been received by President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo for the post of comptroller of the currency which becomes vacant April 28, when the five-year term of Lawrence O. Murray expires. The administration, it is said, will give careful thought to the appointment because of prospective currency reform. The president is expected to seek a man in close sympathy with his ideas on monetary legislation. At the head of the national banking system the comptroller of the currency may be of material assistance in drafting new currency laws.

Among those who are mentioned for the place are R. C. Kellar, Chicago; Lon Stevens, St. Louis; I. R. Stevens, Huntington, Ala.; Cato Sells, Texas; J. R. Downing, Jersey City, N. J.; F. E. Marshall, Missouri; Samuel Ludlow, Jersey City, N. J.; and T. E. Cooper, Alabama.

Missouri to Bar Cigarettes.
Jefferson City, Mo., March 18.—The Missouri house today passed a bill prohibiting the sale of cigarettes in this state after January 1, 1914. The bill passed by a vote of 75 to 47. The bill has not yet passed the senate.

"The Kayser" SILK Glove

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard.

The development of the "KAYSER" Silk Glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand for features most aptly characterized as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" Gloves are the best—in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSER" gloves "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value.

Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER"—you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

A guarantee ticket in every pair.

MRS. PARIS HELPS SISTER

Sister's Visit Proved Not Only a Pleasure, But Resulted in Much Good.

Salt Creek, Va.—In interesting advice from this town, Mrs. W. H. Paris writes as follows: "I was down in bed with womanly troubles—dizziness, fainting spells, headache, etc. I began taking Cardul, the woman's tonic, and after taking several bottles, I feel fine, and am able to do all my household work."

My sister visited me this summer, and was suffering from the same trouble. Of course, I advised her to try Cardul, the woman's tonic, and as a result, she wrote me a few days ago that she had begun taking Cardul, and was feeling much better.

I am still taking Cardul as a tonic, and I never fail to recommend it when I have a chance."

Cardul is successful because it is composed of pure vegetable ingredients that act gently on the delicate womanly organs, and helps build them back to health and strength in a natural manner.

For more than half a century, Cardul has been used, with entire satisfaction, by thousands of sick and ailing women, as is proven by the hundreds of letters, similar to the above, which pour into our office, year after year.

Testimony from those who have actually used Cardul, surely indicates the value of this reliable woman's remedy.

Don't you think so?

AT THE THEATERS

"The Newlyneds."

(At the Lyric.)

One of the very best musical comedies of the season is the veritable hit of the Lyric, "The Newlyneds and Their Baby" this week at the Lyric. The company is a large one, headed by such players as Edward Stanley, who portrays Ferdinand Newlyned, Harold West, as Napoleon Newlyned, the baby, Daniel H. Murphy, as Adolph, the waiter, and last but not least, the Countess Von Hatfeldt, as Mrs. Newlyned. Probably the brightest particular star of the performance is Harold West, who appears as Napoleon Newlyned, the baby.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Everybody knows Jack Wilson, the most original comedian in vaudeville at least that's what nearly everybody thinks. He's at the Grand this week with a new line of chatter and an act full of laughs. He is featured on a bill fairly jammed with features, according to all of Atlanta's critics. The week promises to be one long to be remembered. There are matinees daily, performances nightly.

Tabloid Musical Comedy.

(At the Forsyth.)

Billy Ritchie, who is starring in "Around the Clock," a delightful tabloid musical comedy at the Forsyth this week, has invented more different ways of falling down and getting up unbroken and unbent than any other man on the stage. He is surrounded this week by a bevy of pretty chorus girls.

M. L. Reynolds.

M. L. Reynolds, aged 59 years, died Tuesday afternoon at his home on Flat Shoals road. He is survived by his wife and five children—G. R. G. W. David, J. W. and Miss Daisy Reynolds. The funeral will be held from the Clifton church Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the churchyard.

CITY NEWS

Bankruptcy Is Charged.—Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy have been filed with Deputy Fred Beers, of the federal court, by the Dougherty-Little-Rodwine company, a corporation doing business in Atlanta, claiming an indebtedness of $120.55; the Virginia Trunk and Bag company, of Virginia, $278.55; and Marcus Loeb & Co., of Fulton county, $240.75, against the Lacy-Collins Clothing company, of Cedartown, Ga. So far, a receiver has not been appointed for the alleged bankrupt.

Six Acquitted, Two Guilty.—Eight moonshine cases were disposed of yesterday in the United States States court, Judge Newman presiding. Two of the eight defendants entered pleas of guilty and were sentenced to four months in the Fulton county jail, while the other six who went to trial were acquitted.

DONATIONS ASKED FOR CLARKSTON SUFFERERS

The Clarkston board of trade is making an appeal to the public, both of DeKalb and of Fulton counties, to make donations for the relief of the storm sufferers.

"We have about twelve stricken families that are in dire need of assistance," says the secretary of the board, D. W. Webb, of Clarkston. By sending donations in care of the board of trade, or Mr. Webb, contributors will be sure of reaching the needy sufferers.

George F. Carter.

George F. Carter, aged 45, a traveling salesman of 739 Highland avenue, died at 1 o'clock this morning at a local sanitarium. His body was taken to Greenberg & Bond's chapel awaiting funeral arrangements. Mr. Carter leaves his wife and two children and a niece, Miss Katherine Carter.

That Remarkable Case of Mrs. Watson Has Aroused the People

The almost miraculous cure of Mrs. Emily Watson, published in these columns, has aroused the people of Atlanta, and as usual, some few persons disbelieve it. In other words, call it a lie. Now, the Health Teacher has proved the facts and make those unbelievers crawl back into their hiding places or be convinced, provided, truth and facts can be made to puncture the case, and if it can be proven that they are not true in every particular, even to the minutest details, The Health Teacher will forfeit $100.00 to charity.

Mrs. Emily Watson, of 129 Curran

street, 55 years of age, suffered from indigestion of the severest form for about 3 years. She would bloat, belch, have weak and fainty spells, and her heart would palpitate frequently. On several occasions she had attacks of acute indigestion, during which she was put under the influence of opiates to relieve her sufferings. She tried many well-known remedies, but got only a few hours' relief. She also had several reputable local physicians, but their remedies failed. Mrs. Watson got weaker and more reduced in flesh and vitality each day. She called at Coursey & Munn's drug store and procured a treatment of Quaker Extract. After a few doses it began to show results, and she continued faithfully, until now, after taking six bottles, she is well. She has no distress of any kind, is over 15 pounds heavier, has a perfect appetite, and is so strong that she is even doing things she didn't dare do previously to her sickness. Now, such are the facts, and dispute them, if you will, but they remain facts just the same. The Health Teacher defies anyone to prove them otherwise. If you suffer from catarrh, rheumatism, indigestion, costiveness, kidney, liver or blood troubles, call at once. Quaker Extract, 6 for $5.00; 3 for $2.50; $1.00 bottle. Oil of Balm. Call at Coursey & Munn's drug store, 29 Marietta St. We prepay express charges on all orders of $3.00 or over.

CONTEST FOR FREEDOM BY NAVAL STORES MEN

Judge Adams Pleads for Shoter and Myers in United States Supreme Court.

Washington, March 18.—Many explanations were demanded today by members of the supreme court of the United States when attorneys for officers of the American Naval Stores company, the so-called "turpentine trust," started to argue that the Sherman anti-trust act was unconstitutional as a criminal act. Samuel B. Adams, of Savannah, Ga., representing the company, undertook to reply, but finally concluded this feature of his argument by referring the court to his printed brief.

The argument marked the final effort of the defendants to have set aside their conviction in the Georgia federal courts of violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. It was charged that they depressed the market for turpentine and resin to such an extent that producers were compelled to sell at ridiculously low prices.

Two of the naval stores company's officers, Spencer P. Shoter, chairman of the board of directors, and J. P. Cooper Myers, vice president, are the first men sentenced to imprisonment for violation of the statute to come before the supreme court. An attorney for officers of the so-called "turpentine trust" convicted recently, listened to the argument today.

Mr. Adams had hardly started to the court that the tribunal had never passed upon the constitutionality of the law as a penal act, when Chief Justice White suggested it had never

HUSBAND'S CHARGES ARE FALSE, SAYS GODDARD'S DIVORCED WIFE COMING TO AID OF MRS. DARDEN

Mrs. Elmer T. Darden—accused of infidelity by her husband, slayer of C. M. Goddard—has found an unexpected friend and defender in the person of Goddard's divorced wife, now Miss Silla Camp, a dressmaker of Atlanta.

Expressing herself in warm defense of Mrs. Darden, in a statement given Tuesday afternoon at her dressmaking establishment, 43½ Whitehall street, she declared that she would do all in her power to prove that the charges made by Darden against his wife are absolutely false. While not desiring to become mixed up in any court controversy, she said that if it would aid Mrs. Darden, she would be willing to go before a jury and testify to the falsity of the charges.

Having been divorced from C. M. Goddard four years ago, in the DeKalb county courts, she has resumed her maiden name, Miss Silla Camp, and is now earning her livelihood by working in Atlanta. She and Goddard lived for four years near Stone Mountain, Ga. Her divorce, she says, was obtained for incompatibility and because of a few cases of cruel treatment.

Not Lured by Women. "Cossie Goddard was never a man who was lured by women," said his former wife. "He made a good husband, except for our being unable to agree, and a few cases in which he treated me badly. But he was always straight, and I know I am telling the truth when I say there was never anything wrong between him and Mrs. Darden."

"The Goddards and the Dardens have been close neighbors and friends for years. This tragedy, if the whole story were told, would show the birth of a fiery hatred of a man against his warmest friend. Hatred makes beasts of us, and we imagine all sorts of sins against the object of our jealousy."

Thus it was that into the mind of Mr. Darden was born an enemy for his husband, his old friend, which made him suspect where there was no wrong. It is true that Mrs. Darden has spent the night at the Goddard home—many a time. Darden himself has done the same thing. The families were just that close in friendship, if it is true that Mrs. Darden was an unfaithful wife and an unworthy mother, why did she go to the Goddard house and work and scrub as a housekeeper in order to make a living for her children? If she is the kind of woman her husband says she is, couldn't she have lived a far easier life?"

Ready to Go on Stand. Mrs. Goddard—that is, Miss Silla Camp—says that if she is called to the stand to testify, she can tell some things about Darden that may throw light on his attitude toward her former husband, and his determination to kill him.

Darden himself is held without bond in the Fulton county Tower, awaiting indictment by the grand jury and trial for murder in the superior court of Georgia. His attorney, John E. McCallard, has waived preliminary hearing, and is now engaged in gathering evidence to substantiate the plea of the "unwritten law" when his client comes to trial. Darden is planning as his own line of defense, from his cell in jail, and he reads constantly when in consultation with his attorney. Meanwhile, Mrs. Darden guards the lone little home in Kirkwood and watches alone over her little group of five children.

Former Senator John C. Spooner, for the accused, and Assistant Attorney General Fowler, for the government, will address the court tomorrow.
